Is Suicide After Affray Man Shoots Ex-Wife's Husband, Attacks Her

A 56-year-old Saugerties man shot his former wife's husband, pistol-whipped her and killed himself Sunday, according to Lake Katrine State Police officials.

Frederick Linsley Roessler, of 32 Finger Street, Saugerties, died in Kingston Hospital Sunday afternoon of self-inflicted gunshot wounds of the head.

Roessler's ex-wife, Mrs. Barbara Disbrow, 45, and her husband, Clarence Albert Disbrow, 45-year-old plumbing contractor of Palenville, were in Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. A hospital spokesman today described Mrs. Disbrow's condition as fair. Disbrow remained in critical condition.

Concerned About Daughters
State police said Roessler appeared at the Palenville home of the Disbrows at 11:15 a. m. Sunday, when authorities said he tried to talk to his former wife about their two teenage daughters, who reportedly are vacationing at Lake George summer camp.

Troopers said Disbrow was on the front porch of his home, when suddenly Roessler brandished a .45 caliber automatic revolver and fired three shots at Disbrow. Two bullets entered Disbrow's lower abdomen and he slumped to the floor of the porch.

Beats Woman With Gun
When his former wife screamed, Roessler pistol-whipped her several times on the head, troopers said. State police said Roessler attempted to shoot her but the gun jammed. Roessler then fled and returned to his home. Neighbors summoned troopers, who had the Disbrows rushed to the hospital at Catskill in the Catskill Rescue Squad ambulance.

State Police Corporal Edward Shannon and Trooper Richard Ryan, accompanied by Sergeant Harold Mills, acted police chief at Saugerties sped to Roessler's home to take him into custody for questioning.

Still Clutching Pistol
Authorities said as they hurried into the Roessler residence they found him sprawled on the floor of a bedroom, a .32 caliber automatic pistol still clutched in his hand.

Roessler had shot himself through the left temple. The mortally wounded man was rushed to Kingston Hospital after receiving emergency treatment. He died at 1:15 p. m. Sunday.

Roessler was manager of a production service department of International Business Machines Corporation, Kingston Plant.

Neighbors described him as "a

Local Boat Welcome Is Largest Many Spectators Look for Flotilla

Kingston apparently had the largest turnout of craft to greet the flotilla off Rondout Creek and at other convenient sites along the Hudson River on Saturday afternoon, according to those who joined the fleet near Esopus Light.

The flotilla, whose strength ranged from four to approximately 100 boats as it cruised up the river to honor the river's discoverer, Henry Hudson, has been called a huge success by some, according to The Associated Press.

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield of Poughkeepsie, chairman of the Temporary State Commission on Historic Observances, estimated that 1,000 pleasure craft took part in the day-long parade.

Spectators Line Shore
Many spectators who lined the river front in a sizzling temperature of 94, expressed disappointment at the small number of craft that took part in the flotilla most of the way.

The Navy tug and the Stanley J. Harte yacht "Princess," was saluted by the Kingston Power Boat Association's former regatta-starting cannon from Donald Schryver's boat, "Flying High" in the Esopus Light area at 3:40 p. m.

Senator and Mrs. Hatfield were aboard the officials boat during the trip, and off Poughkeepsie a salute to the river procession echoed through the area.

Vernon Radel, KPBA, commodore, fired the salute off Kingston, and among the group of local craft greeting the flotilla at the time was the "Lei Lani" owned by Charles J. Cole, local public works superintendent.

Drop Off at Saugerties
The flotilla gathered a trailing of local craft at Kingston and off other communities along the

2 Held for Assault, 2 for Burglary, One On Weapons Charge

Two men were booked on assault charges over the weekend, two for burglary and another was held for alleged possession of a dangerous weapon.

Joseph Zichitella, 30, of 25 Foxhall Avenue, already due for an Aug. 26 court appearance on a third degree assault charge, was arrested again for allegedly breaking the jaw of a gas station attendant Saturday night.

Police charged Zichitella with striking Thomas Chase, 22, of 13 Spruce Street, after a dispute over the functioning of a Coca Cola machine at the Frank Nadal service station, Broadway and East Chester Street.

Charge He Was Abusive

Zichitella, police said, claiming he had deposited 15 cents, banged and rocked the machine, and became abusive, striking Chase and knocking him to the floor. He then left and Chase called the police.

Reports today indicated the fracture suffered by Chase was multiple and required treatment by a New York specialist.

A police report Aug. 12 noted that Zichitella, who had just completed a sentence of 10 days in jail on a disorderly conduct charge, was rearrested on a warrant executed by officers Thomas Carpino and George Deyo, charging third degree assault.

Frank Marella, of 376 Hasbrouck Avenue, is listed as complainant filing the latter charge. He claims that Zichitella had

Chased Japs Out of Pacific President Leads U.S. In Tribute to Halsey

FISHERS ISLAND, N. Y. (AP) —President Eisenhower led the nation today in mourning the death of Fleet Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey.

Halsey, 76, died here Sunday of a heart attack while vacationing. He gained fame as the admiral who chased the Japanese fleet to its death in the Pacific in World War II.

'Great Natural Leader'

Eisenhower, who heard the news of Halsey's death at Gettysburg, Pa., said he had lost a warm personal friend, and the nation one of its "great natural leaders."

"His great personal contribution to the successful campaigns in the Pacific and the exploits of the forces under his command are a brilliant part of American military history," said Eisenhower.

Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke said in Washington that Halsey "leaves a heritage of inspiration to those now in the Navy."

Another great military figure of the Pacific war, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said, "He was one of our greatest admirals, and his name will always be associated with our great victory over Japan."

Halsey was born in Elizabeth, N.J., the son of a ship captain. He was never an outstanding scholar, but managed to enter

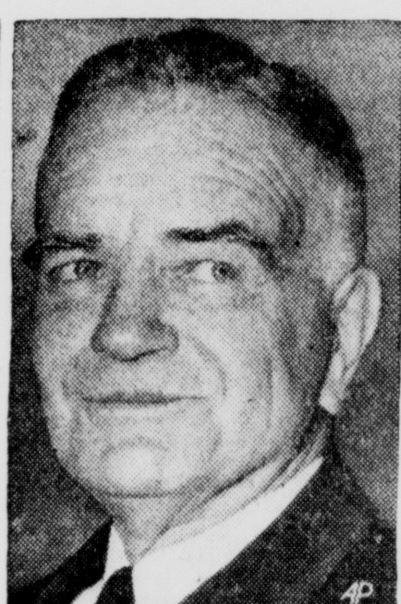

Annapolis, and played football on the football team. On graduation in 1904, the yearbook called him "a real old salt."

Tide in Favor of Japs
When Halsey took command of Navy forces in the South Pacific in 1942, the tide of war was running heavily in favor of Japan.

"We had nothing but a shoe-string. We were told to hold on, and we held on—from Guadalcanal to Tokyo," he said later.

"When I had the 3rd Fleet, I had a tremendous steamroller," Halsey said. "I could do anything I damned pleased. But in those

2 Poughkeepsie Residents Fatally Hurt at Marlboro

Two Poughkeepsie residents were fatally injured and five other persons were seriously hurt at about 11 p. m. Saturday when the cars in which they were riding crashed head-on on Route 9-W one mile north of Marlboro.

Highland State Troopers Harry Foster and James Kaljian identified the dead as Thomas B. Scott, 42, a salesman, of 14 Flannery Avenue, and Emanuel Mary Farruggella, 31, of 39 South Bridge Street, both of Poughkeepsie. The woman was a passenger in Scott's automobile.

The other vehicle was operated by Dixon James Melvin, 24, of 49 High Street, Newburgh, who suffered fractures of both legs, a fractured skull and internal injuries. His condition was described as critical at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh.

Troopers said Scott was pronounced dead at the scene of the crash. Miss Farruggella died at St. Luke's Hospital at 12:45 a. m. Sunday of multiple injuries.

Action Is Pending
Coroner Francis J. McCordie of Ulster County, and Coroner Harvey T. Agnew of Orange County, conducted investigations of the tragic accident with Troopers Foster and Kaljian. Criminal action is pending, authorities said.

Passengers in Melvin's automobile who were rushed to St. Luke's Hospital by ambulance, were identified as Thomas Thompson, of 42 Colden Street, Newburgh; James Lee McNeil, 17, of Dunne, N. C.; Edward Royal, 15, of 234 North Water Street, Newburgh, and 17-year-old David Williams, of 49 Colden Street, Newburgh.

In Fair Condition
The extent of their injuries was not immediately determined, although troopers at Highland reported today the condition of each of the injured was considered fair.

According to troopers, Melvin was driving south on the wrong side of the highway and at an excessive rate of speed and Scott was traveling north in the passing lane when the vehicles collided head-on. Occupants of both vehicles were thrown to the pavement, authorities said.

The investigation is being continued by Coroners McCordie and Agnew and Highland State police.

Victim of Stray Shot MP Officer Held for Fisherman's Death

HUNTER, N. Y. (AP) — A trout fisherman shot to death near a Catskill Mountain stream apparently was the victim of a stray bullet fired by an Army lieutenant, state police said.

The dead man, 58-year-old William Pushman of Newburgh, was killed by a .22 caliber bullet in the heart.

1st Lt. Lindsey L. Baird, 27, a military police officer assigned to Fort Totten, L. I., was charged Sunday with second-degree manslaughter and criminal negligence in handling a firearm.

Baird was committed to Greene County Jail at Catskill to await grand jury action.

ASSEMBLAGE FLOAT—Nancy Misasi, Miss Saugerties of 1960 and her two attendants rode on the Miss New York State float in the Saugerties Assemblage Day parade Saturday, opening event of the all-day activities presenting an exposition of industry and business. Attending

Thousands Brave Heat Wave to Witness Saugerties Assemblage Day Activities

Many thousands of residents and visitors to Saugerties' second annual Assemblage Day exposition Saturday braved temperatures in the high nineties to witness the activities throughout the township in the all-day program.

The assemblage type exposition was created last year by Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce to present the village and township industries, shopping district and community development in a festive atmosphere.

Hundred degree temperatures in the afternoon cut down the size of the crowds. Some flocked to the refuge of air conditioned establishments, and many returned in the evening for the fireworks display and dancing at Cantine Memorial Field.

A parade and ribbon cutting ceremony opened the festival shortly after 10 p. m.

State Senator E. Ozden Bush of the State Commission for Historic Observances, and representatives of the 34th Senatorial District embracing Ulster County, cut the tape. He was assisted in the ceremony by Nancy Misasi, Miss Saugerties of 1960; Gale Browlee of Woodstock, Miss Hudson-Champlain, and Miss Saugerties' attendants, Denise Rethier and Carol Larsen.

Music for the day was provided by Saugerties Drum Corps, the Third District Navy Band, Peter Ferraro's orchestra, and Johnny Michaels and his dance orchestra. A rock and roll band also entertained in front of Bosco's Barber Shop.

Col. Joseph A. Barrett Jr., commanding officer at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh arrived in time for the opening ceremonies by helicopter at Cantine Field.

Mayor Was Host
A luncheon reception for visiting dignitaries was held at Katsbaan Inn. All were guests of Mayor George P. Holmes.

Those at the speaker's table at the luncheon with Mayor Holmes were Senator Bush, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock; Supervisor Peter M. Williams, Robert A. Snyder, chairman of the reception committee; Mayor Edwin F. Radel of Kingston; Clifford Allanson, executive director of New York State Retail Merchants Association; Miss Misasi, Miss Browlee, Assemblage Chairman Vincent Amrod, Lt. W. S. Dwindling Steel Supplies May Become Critical by Labor Day, Many Predict

What has the steel strike done so far to the economy and when will it really hurt? In the following, first of a series of three articles, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, summarizes an Associated Press survey of present conditions.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The government will step into the steel strike when it's a national emergency and not before. So says President Eisenhower. How long before the strike becomes a threat to the over-all economy?

A nation-wide survey by Associated Press reporters shows that—with few exceptions—users of steel are well stocked. Unemployment has hit transportation and mining industries closely tied to steel production.

Few Paying More
But most steel users were able to lay in supplies from domestic or foreign mills. A few have been paying higher prices. A. O. Smith says it must close its pipe mill in Milwaukee now. Some other firms say they will run out of steel after Labor Day. More say they can hold out till October or later.

At Groton, Conn., the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics says it ordered steel so far in advance it can continue work on seven A-subbs for at least a year. In New York, General Dynamics says its other divisions have enough steel for at least another 60 days.

"The steel situation is going to get critical—like a tornado," says Marlow C. Hodge, owner of Steel Metal Products Inc. of Los Angeles, and vice president of the Sheet Metal Contractors Assn. of Southern California. "We know the danger is there because we can see it, but when?"

Auto Has Large Stocks
The auto industry, which uses about a fifth of all steel output, reports large stocks on hand because the strike seemed so sure for so long. It has an upcoming breather while no steel is being used during the model changeovers. Also the Detroit Steel Corp. isn't struck. And Ford's own steel plant isn't affected.

Appliance makers say the pinch may come in another month—although some can go still longer. A few put Labor Day as the trouble date. In Pittsburgh, Westinghouse says its supplies of various steel products will last from 60 to 90 days. In New York, General Electric says various divisions have varying amounts and there may be some trading between plants.

Vacation Period Helps
Able to hold out for two months or more are Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator, Whirlpool in St. Paul, Paper Calumet & Co. in Minneapolis, Western Air and Refrigeration in Los Angeles.

Helped by a two-week vacation just ended, International Harvester of Chicago says it expects to run at least till the end of September. Hotpoint in the same city has a six to eight week supply. Fairbanks Morse may have trouble after August.

The International Business Machine plant in Lexington, Ky., has a four months supply. The American Can plant in Arlington, Tex., sees little trouble for several weeks. But in Kansas City, Butner Manufacturing, which makes tanks and farm equipment, says some plants may close early in September, and Black, Sivals and Bryson, which makes oil field equipment, says it can run through Labor Day.

In New York, Continental Can says its over-all steel tonnage is high, but demand for various kinds of cans varies widely, and its Chicago plant expects to feel the effect in October.

See 30-60 Day Supply
Supplies for another month or more are reported in New York by Esso Standard Oil and Fairbanks-Whitney, in Philadelphia by Budd Co., in Beverly, Mass., by United Shoe Machinery, in New Haven, Conn., by Sargent & Co., makers of hardware and tools. Des Moines reports most Iowa steel users have 30 to 60 days stocks.

Haiti Protests Invasion Band

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Haiti protested to the Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference today against the invasion of that Negro republic by a small band of revolutionaries.

The Haitian delegation said the invaders, who terrorized a village after landing Thursday, are believed to have come from Cuba. Haitian troops are hunting them. This was the first case of violence formally brought to the attention of the conference, called to discuss Caribbean tension.

Haiti's foreign minister, Louis Mars, delivered the protest to Foreign Minister German Vergara Denoso of Chile, chairman of the conference.

The Haitian note, however, may be referred to the Organization of American States instead of being taken up formally by the ministers. Their meeting is scheduled to wind up Tuesday.

Mars declared Haiti is "the victim of aggression whose manifest objective is to alter public order and menace the stability of a constitutional government."

His complaint noted that about 30 men with long beards and green uniforms, who were possibly Cuban revolutionaries, had landed on Haiti's south coast. Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's brother Raul was due in Santiago as the foreign ministers of Latin America and the United States argued final details of a compromise plan to calm the Caribbean.

Vols to Meet Tuesday Night
The August meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Tuesday evening, August 18, at Shandaken. The association will be guest of the Shandaken-Albany Hose Company.

Will Ask Ike To Give Data On Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—More U.S. senators were looking to the White House for help in settling the nationwide steel strike as joint negotiations were set here today.

Talks between teams representing the industry and the striking United Steelworkers of America recessed for the weekend last Friday as the stoppage became a month old. There was no indication of progress toward agreement on a new contract.

Finnegan Sitting In
Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, is sitting in on the negotiations.

Two Republican senators announced they would introduce in the Senate today a resolution asking that President Eisenhower make public the facts about the strike that he possesses.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has been acting as Eisenhower's fact-finder on the strike.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and George D. Aiken (R-VT) said in a joint statement in Washington that their resolution would be a substitute for a pending resolution introduced by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and signed by 52 other Democratic senators.

No Mediator Role
In asking that the President make public at once a report by Mitchell, Javits and Aiken said such a move "should be able to crystallize the weight of public opinion to bring about a settlement of the strike or indicate what further steps may be taken to bring it about."

Javits and Aiken said their proposal that Eisenhower tell the public just what Mitchell has determined to date as fact-finder would omit the Symington resolution request that the President act as a mediator or make recommendations on settlement terms.

Rondout Group Cancels Meeting For August 19
The regular meeting of the Rondout Area Business Men's Association, scheduled for Wednesday night, Aug. 19, at Wolf's Restaurant, has been called off.

James E. Norton made this announcement to The Freeman today, saying the cancellation was due to the high number of members being away on vacation.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday night, Sept. 16, at Rooke's Tavern, Norton added.

Two Arrested for Burglary
Local detectives, pursuing clues after a burglary at the gas station at Flatbush Avenue and East Chester Street, operated by Charles Miller, as reported Saturday, booked two men early today on third degree burglary charges.

Cigarettes, valued at $50 and some $100 in bills and silver were reportedly taken. Entrance was gained through the breaking of a side window, a door to a rear section was reported broken, and the cigarette machine was smashed open.

Booked today were Robert F. Schoonmaker, 25, of Route 3, Box 274, Kingston, and Edward Houghtaling, 24, West Shore Hotel. The arrest was by Detectives Gurney Burger and William Slover. Detectives Albert Hutton and Harold DeGraff and officers William Whalen and George Barringer also worked on the case.

Houghtaling Held for Jury
Houghtaling today waived examination and was held for the grand jury. Attorney Charles J. Saccamano appeared for Schoonmaker, and the case was put over to Aug. 25.

Horace P. Manley, 24, of 83 Damerest Street, Newark, N. J., said to be visiting on Gay Street, and allegedly involved in an altercation, was booked on a charge dealing with the carrying of a dangerous weapon early Sunday.

Officers George Deyo and Kenneth Radel were dispatched to the area after a report that Manley had been seen near 99 Gage Street, carrying a long-bladed kitchen carving knife. There had been previous reports of a fight on the street.

Case Moved to Wednesday
Manley pleaded guilty today and sentencing was put over to Wednesday. Bail was fixed at $100.

Paul Stokes, 48, of 11 East Pierpont Street, was arrested on complaint of his wife on a third degree assault charge Sunday night, after a reported "family dispute" at that address. Officers James Steinhilber and Vincent Eckert were dispatched to the house after a call at 8:45 p. m. Sunday. The case was put over to Wednesday to permit him time to obtain counsel.

Family Survives Rigorous Test in A-Bomb Shelter

By RUSSELL H. MULLEN
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The Thomas A. Powner family has just survived a rigorous test of togetherness. All five of them emerged Friday after two weeks of isolation in a 72-square-foot a-bomb shelter.

And, said Mr. and Mrs. Powner Saturday, the experience was "very beneficial."

After a day of medical and psychological tests, the parents held a news conference at Princeton University with their two boys, Scott, 3, and Tony, 3½; and girl, Hilary, 2½ months.

The family had gone into the bunker on July 31 in the basement of a university laboratory at the request of the Federal Office of Civilian Defense.

The main purpose was to learn what physical and psychological changes are needed in civil defense plans for a standard family shelter.

Powner, 31, said the main problems during the two weeks were heat and odors. He's a contractor from Cranbury and has built several homes. Powner had several suggestions for making life more livable in a shelter. One dealt with garbage disposal.

They accumulated a four-foot pile of garbage.

11 Perish In Crash of Two Autos

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Two cars smashed head-on Sunday night in a rending crash that killed 11 persons.

Eight others were injured in the two cars. Six of the dead were adults and five were children.

One wrecked car was owned by G.W. Eddy of White Hall, Ill., and the other by LeRoy Thompson, 31, of Richmond, Mo. Eddy died in the crash; Thompson was hurt.

A single drop of cobra venom can be fatal. Usually it takes only four hours to kill, said William H. Haast, operator of the Miami serpentarium.

But the cobra's fangs pierced a sack of heavy material before they hit White on a thumb. The bag apparently absorbed some of the venom.

A hospital attendant said White, who has been bitten about 100 times by non-poisonous snakes during his four years at the reptile garden, remarked as the serum was injected: "I knew all the time I'd be okay."

A few minutes after midnight, Dr. C. C. DuMont said White's condition was satisfactory.

"He has a chance to recover," said Dr. DuMont. "I think he'll be okay."

After White was bitten, a telephone call was made to the Miami serpentarium. Finchpaugh said it was the only source of anti-cobra serum in the United States. The serum is made in Bombay, India.

While Air Force Lieutenants James H. Ahmann of Louisville, Ky., and Larry Marks of Miami stood by a T33 jet trainer, a Coast Guard helicopter picked up the vital of serum at the serpentarium.

The jet covered the 1,300 miles from Miami to this city in north west Missouri in 3 hours, 48 minutes.

Hudson between New York City and Albany. At Saugerties, however, the water parade became soverly depleted, and reports from Catskill indicated that the two leading craft had few followers at that point.

The turnout at Kingston was composed of craft from area marinas plus those from the KPBA.

Crowds had gathered at vantage points and large crowds were reported off Poughkeepsie, Catskill and other points. The crowds anticipated seeing at least half of the 1,000 craft slated to sail.

"Success," Says Hatfield
Senator Hatfield termed the event "a success" and throngs that stood along the riverfront were of the opinion that "land-wise" it was a success, although at many points from land the crowds saw the leading boats trailed by an unimpressive line of small craft, which they said mostly to be units powered by outboard motors.

The trip from New York City to Albany celebrated the discovery of the Hudson River 350 years ago by Henry Hudson.

Senator Hatfield, who rode in the lead boat, said craft ducked in and out of the procession all along the way.

100 Craft Reported
A newsman who travelled with officials said the flotilla numbered about 100 at its largest.

Fireboats gave the parade a sendoff when it left New York City in thick haze. Hatfield said he was unable to see how many boats were in the flotilla at the start.

The official boat arrived on schedule in Albany. As darkness was falling, Hatfield said, it was impossible to tell how many others were following.

A big Navy blimp was an attraction. It hovered over the procession part of the day, and Air Force jets saluted it during the afternoon.

11 Perish In Crash of Two Autos

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Two cars smashed head-on Sunday night in a rending crash that killed 11 persons.

Eight others were injured in the two cars. Six of the dead were adults and five were children.

One wrecked car was owned by G.W. Eddy of White Hall, Ill., and the other by LeRoy Thompson, 31, of Richmond, Mo. Eddy died in the crash; Thompson was hurt.

A single drop of cobra venom can be fatal. Usually it takes only four hours to kill, said William H. Haast, operator of the Miami serpentarium.

But the cobra's fangs pierced a sack of heavy material before they hit White on a thumb. The bag apparently absorbed some of the venom.

A hospital attendant said White, who has been bitten about 100 times by non-poisonous snakes during his four years at the reptile garden, remarked as the serum was injected: "I knew all the time I'd be okay."

A few minutes after midnight, Dr. C. C. DuMont said White's condition was satisfactory.

"He has a chance to recover," said Dr. DuMont. "I think he'll be okay."

After White was bitten, a telephone call was made to the Miami serpentarium. Finchpaugh said it was the only source of anti-cobra serum in the United States. The serum is made in Bombay, India.

While Air Force Lieutenants James H. Ahmann of Louisville, Ky., and Larry Marks of Miami stood by a T33 jet trainer, a Coast Guard helicopter picked up the vital of serum at the serpentarium.

The jet covered the 1,300 miles from Miami to this city in north west Missouri in 3 hours, 48 minutes.

Local Boat
Hudson between New York City and Albany. At Saugerties, however, the water parade became soverly depleted, and reports from Catskill indicated that the two leading craft had few followers at that point.

The turnout at Kingston was composed of craft from area marinas plus those from the KPBA.

Crowds had gathered at vantage points and large crowds were reported off Poughkeepsie, Catskill and other points. The crowds anticipated seeing at least half of the 1,000 craft slated to sail.

"Success," Says Hatfield
Senator Hatfield termed the event "a success" and throngs that stood along the riverfront were of the opinion that "land-wise" it was a success, although at many points from land the crowds saw the leading boats trailed by an unimpressive line of small craft, which they said mostly to be units powered by outboard motors.

The trip from New York City to Albany celebrated the discovery of the Hudson River 350 years ago by Henry Hudson.

Senator Hatfield, who rode in the lead boat, said craft ducked in and out of the procession all along the way.

Rocky Picks Group To Study Pension Fund Investments

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A state study committee will try to determine whether the 4½ billion dollars in retirement funds of state and local employees should be invested on a wider scope.

Gov. Rockefeller named H. Elliot Kaplan, president of the State Civil Service Commission, to head the committee.

Other members are Arthur Levitt, state comptroller, G. Russell Clark, banking superintendent, Thomas Thacher, insurance superintendent, and G. Lawrence Gerona, New York City comptroller.

The pension funds cover the retirement of thousands of public employees throughout the state.

Rockefeller pointed out Saturday that state law governing investment of funds was not uniform. Restrictions on the funds have been criticized as unnecessarily limiting their income, he said.

Some, the governor said, were restricted to investing only in obligations of city, state and U. S. governments. Others were limited to investments that can be made by savings banks. The state Employees' Retirement System this year was authorized to invest in obligations of some public utilities. The study committee is expected to make recommendations to the 1960 Legislature.

Newgold Seeks Old Woodstock Photos for File

Bill Newgold, the dynamic director of the Colony Arts Center, has started a photo file that will be made available to the public. When the Albany Times-Union photographer was in Woodstock last week taking pictures to illustrate Newgold's feature article on Woodstock which appeared in a recent issue of the T-U, he took many more pictures than were actually used in the article.

A copy of all the pictures taken are being sent to Newgold and he will make additional copies available to those interested at the cost of reproduction.

In planning this and other articles which will appear during coming months in newspapers and magazines about Woodstock and its activities, as well as plans for its future, Newgold has found it difficult to obtain suitable photos available, especially pictures of people and events in Woodstock, early in its history as an art colony.

This has prompted him to start his own Woodstock photographic file with the hope that others interested in seeing the community's creative aspects well publicized will make available any picture depicting Woodstock activities for future use.

To Set Regular Rates

Newgold says that any picture contributed to his file and later used for publication will be paid for each time that it is used at the regular rate of payment for photographs set by each specific newspaper or magazine. Naturally, large circulation newspapers and magazines pay proportionately more than smaller publications.

Newgold can be contacted about pictures at the Colony Arts Center on Rock city road, Woodstock.

Newgold's excellent feature on Woodstock in the Times-Union was embellished by a wide range of photos showing the multiple cultural activities in our town, which the T-U called the "last stronghold of Bohemian life."

Tax Penalties Levied After September 1 Date

Town Clerk Marjorie Harder announces that the 1959 tax rolls of the township will be turned into County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois on September 1, when the town tax collector warrant for collection expires.

Mrs. Harder points out that any unpaid taxes for the year should be paid prior to that date to avoid extra penalties. The collection fee for taxes paid during August is four per cent.

After the tax roll is returned to the County Treasurer's office, a five per cent collection fee is charged plus a penalty of interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from Feb. 1, 1959 to the date of payment.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 17, 1959

HAZARDS OF PASSING

Traffic is heavy on this two-lane road, but proceeding at a swift pace. Cars A, B, and C are strung out along the highway at reasonable distance from one another. Car D, moving faster, crowds in behind Car C and keeps swaying out of the lane in obvious eagerness to pass.

Car D is frustrated by oncoming traffic, but all at once an opening appears. The man at the wheel decides to take a chance. He cuts sharply left and roars past Car C. As he nears Car B, it becomes apparent that the oncoming truck is rumbling at high speed. Car D spurts and barely manages to duck in ahead of Car B just as the truck zooms past.

A near miss. It illustrates the fact that passing is one of the most dangerous maneuvers on the road, perhaps the most dangerous of all. Passing is involved in a large proportion of highway accidents, and very often such accidents are fearful ones in terms of property damage, injury and loss of life.

Passing demands peak skill and peak judgment. Yet most drivers receive their licenses without ever having had anything but the most haphazard training in the skills required. Just how this could be rectified is a problem requiring the attention of those responsible for driver training and license examinations. There is little doubt, however, that improvement in this area would reduce the number of serious highway accidents.

PATTERN OF AGREEMENT

It may be that the ultimate meeting ground where international disputes will be resolved is in outer space. A hint of this is seen in preparations made for a meeting of the International Telecommunications Union in Geneva. The subject to be discussed there: A step toward international control over the use of outer space by establishing radio frequencies for space communications.

The Union is a specialized United Nations agency whose purpose is to promote international cooperation in the communications field. If all goes well in Geneva, delegates will reach an agreement that would govern radio communication with a space station on a satellite, on the moon, or even on another planet.

The need for such an agreement is clear. Some difficulties have already resulted from conflicting radio transmitting frequencies used by unmanned satellites. Sometimes they even conflict with one another, and that makes gibberish of their data.

Regulation of frequencies would be a useful step forward. There is also some hope that the Geneva meetings may result in a formula for international agreement on other questions. And that would be a stride in seven league boots.

A bank bulletin warns against "repeated doses" of inflation via government deficit financing. Maybe the doses are too easy to swallow.

COORDINATION OF AID

Various governors and others have for some time been troubled by defects in the administration of cooperative federal-state programs. This feeling has now culminated in the introduction of a measure in Congress to establish a permanent congressional advisory commission on inter-governmental relations. The idea has considerable merit.

One of the most active champions of the proposal is Governor Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota, who spoke in its favor at the governors' conference in Puerto Rico. He would have the proposed advisory commission work out better coordination of the various federal-state programs and evaluate the effects of federal support on state finances. He also believes that such a commission should devise a more orderly system of providing federal appropriations for inter-governmental programs.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

KHRUSHCHEV

The fan mail about Khrushchev's visit is large. Nearly all of it is antagonistic to his visit. Questions are asked like this: Would we have received Hitler or Franco? Would the mayors of our big cities welcome Trujillo? The emotional rejection of Khrushchev by an important and sizable element in our population is clearly indicated.

Nikita Khrushchev is a product of the Stalinist period of the Russian Revolution. He has no pre-revolutionary history like Lenin, Trotsky, Stalin, Kameney, Zinoviev, etc. He had never been exiled. He had never been sent to Siberia. He grew up in the Russian Communist Party bureaucracy, performing such tasks as were assigned to him by Stalin.

Most of his early activities were in the Ukraine. Ukrainians grow angry when one designates Khrushchev as Ukrainian. Actually, he was born outside of the Ukraine but on its border. Most of his political career was in that area. He was the agent Stalin used to suppress every independence movement in this particularly independent realm. He is held responsible for the horrible man-made famine when Stalin deprived the people of the products they raised to use them to barter for machinery from abroad.

Khrushchev, as a politician, maneuvered himself from the Ukraine to Moscow principally through the patronage of Lazar Kaganovich who took a liking to him and promoted him. Until Khrushchev became a figure on his own account, he was always a subordinate of Kaganovich. As soon as Khrushchev became sufficiently powerful, he exiled Kaganovich from Moscow, deprived him of all power and authority that he had held through the Stalin regime.

When Khrushchev was being fought inside the government it was Marshal Zhukov who gave him the powerful assist of army support. As soon as Khrushchev rose to power, he fired and exiled Zhukov, the Russian hero of World War II. He and Malenkov were buddies. Malenkov succeeded to Stalin's powers by Stalin's wish. First Khrushchev used his powerful party connections to deprive Malenkov of his leadership of the Communist Party and then he took from him the headship of the government.

The successor to Malenkov, as head of the government, was Bulganin. He and Khrushchev went about the world together as comrades in arms. It got so that the team was called B & K, and everybody wondered which was the funnier. Where is Bulganin today? He is around somewhere, writing some kind of a book.

In a word, Khrushchev is an ingenious politician, an able operator of a political machine, ruthless, unscrupulous, a Boss. On the other hand, he does not conduct Asiatic purges as Stalin did. He exiles his enemies; Stalin murdered them. Stalin was a product of pre-revolutionary Bolshevism which meant a high degree of sectarian in-fighting. Khrushchev is a product of the Stalinist dictatorship, during much of which he enjoyed the benefits of being in the inside of a developing organization. Stalin knew the poverty of defeat and the fears of the Czarist police and in his soul was a spirit of vengeance; Khrushchev's manhood years were spent in the development of five year plans and in the up-building stages of the Soviet Union.

To both Stalin and Khrushchev, capitalism is a theory hardly understood and witnessed. Stalin had been abroad in the pre-revolutionary period as an underground messenger; Khrushchev has visited some capitalist cities, such as London, England, since he emerged to power. Most of the early revolutionists had lived abroad, in England, Germany, France, Switzerland; Trotsky spent some years in New York. Khrushchev has no concept of the capitalist world, except from books and hearsay. He knows very little about the United States, as is obvious from every statement he makes about this country. He probably has not been told that President Eisenhower's father was a poor farmer of a Mennonite sect, similar to the Old Believers of Russia; he probably knows now that Nixon's father was a grocer. But did anyone tell him of the antecedents of Admiral Hyman Rickover whose father was an immigrant Polish Jewish tailor from a little town near Warsaw.

There is a possibility that Khrushchev can learn something from this visit. Of course, he may be an obstinate, imperious person who refuses to learn but men rarely achieve such a position anywhere as Khrushchev holds in Soviet Russia unless they can learn by experience. If he learns the truth about America, he will have to revise his tactics or fail in his ambitions. (Copyright, 1959, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Opinion Is Divided
On Vitamin E Role
In Treating Heart Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

I think that sometimes patients take a peek at what their doctors write about them, but are usually puzzled by what they see!

Q—Please explain the diagnosis, "rheumatic heart disease, inactive."—P. H.
A—This means that the physician has found some signs of injury to the heart as a result of rheumatic fever, but that it is not getting worse. This label does not express anything about the amount of damage, which of course, may be very slight.

Q—Would you say something about the value of vitamin E in heart disease? Also, I should like to know if vitamins can be harmful since so many of my friends take vitamins every day.—Mrs. L.

A—There are a few physicians who claim that vitamin E is of value in the treatment in certain kinds of heart disease. However, this point of view has not been accepted by most others.

Some vitamins, such as vitamin D, can produce harmful effects if taken in too large quantities. Probably most vitamins if taken beyond the needs of the body are simply eliminated and have no effects either good or bad.

Q—What is the best vitamin for old eyes, and which foods have the most of it?—R. N.

A—There is no single vitamin which is particularly valuable for "old eyes." Sometimes one of the vitamins known as carotene may aid the vision in dim light.

Q—Is there any definite way to prove whether a man is a child's father? I have been told that this can be done by a blood test of some kind.—Mrs. E. H.

A—It is not possible to tell that a particular man is a particular child's father. However, because of the known facts of inheritance of certain blood types it is sometimes possible to prove that a man could not have been the father of a particular child.

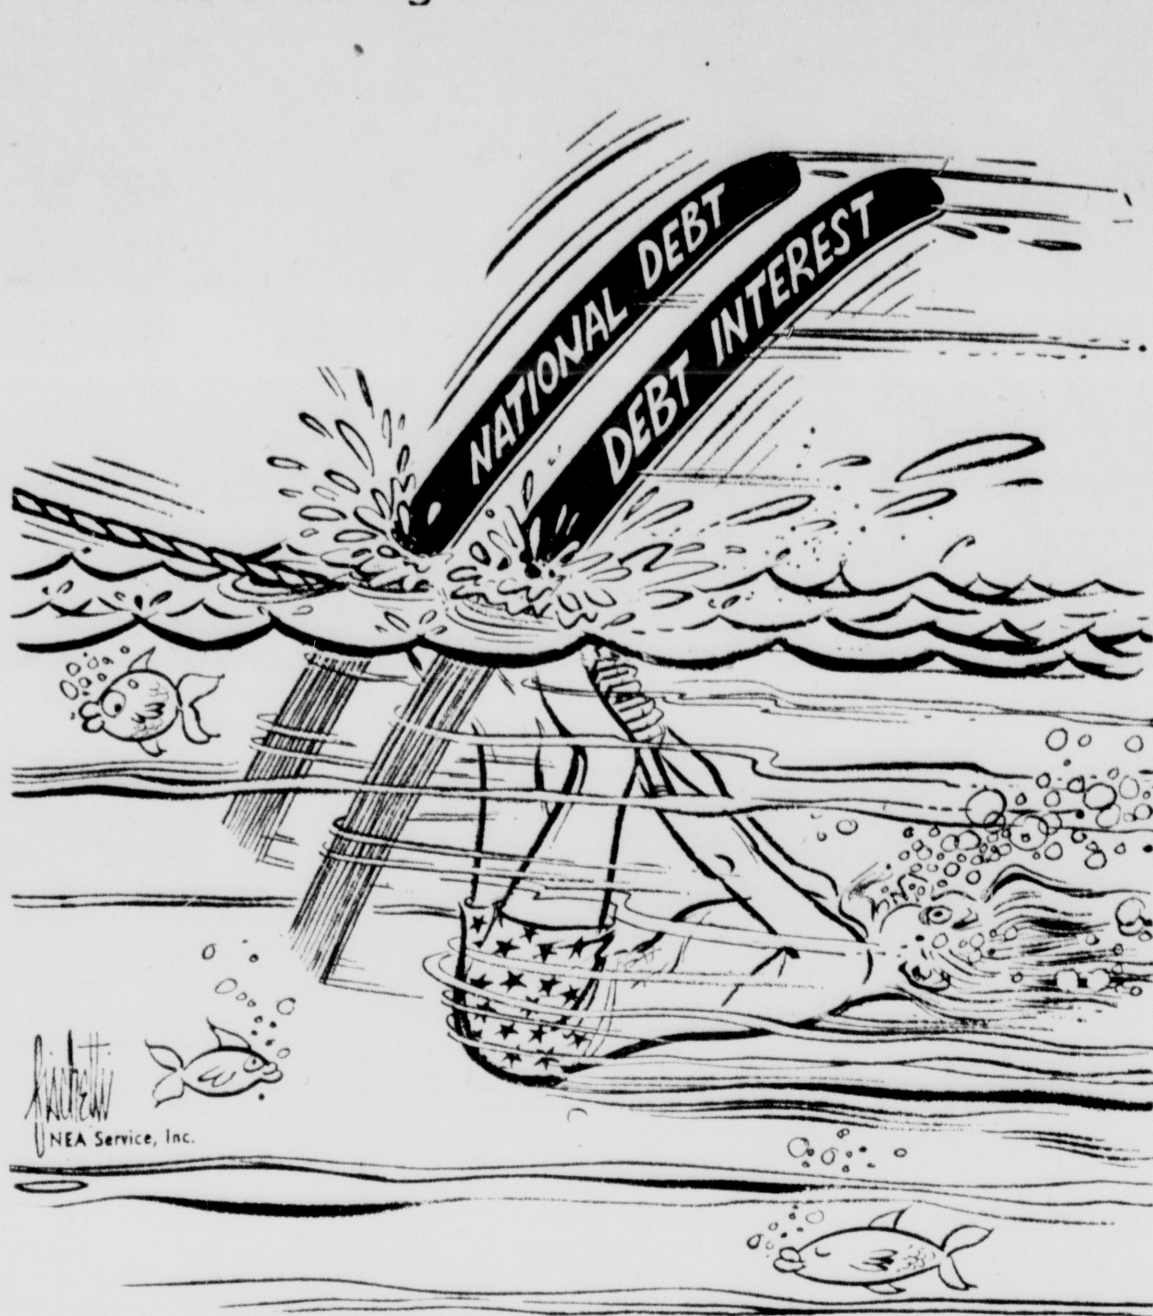

Q—Is there any remedy for the scalp disorder known as alopecia areata?—Mrs. O. J.

A—This is a condition, sometimes known also as "baldness in spots," in which the hair falls out in round spots. Its cause is unknown. Treatments are used with variable results. Usually the hair grows back completely after several weeks or months.

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer questions directly. In this column he answers the most interesting and most frequently asked.

The points made by Freeman suggest the nature of problems which spring from the present system of rather loose coordination. The congressional advisory commission envisioned in the bill now before Congress would go a long way toward improving the situation.

Water Skiing's Fun---If You Know How

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Eisenhower's much-discussed "off the record" dinner for selected news reporters has turned up two conflicting stories within 17 days.

On Aug. 8 the story—given top play one page one, column eight of the always reliable New York Times—carried this headline:

Chance for Talks
At Summit in 1959
Believed Gaining

On July 22—same paper and place—the earlier headline was:

President Is Writing Off
Chance of Summit Talks

Puzzled newspaper readers whose memories could span this on might justifiably ask, "What goes on here?"

If a Summit was "written off" as bad three weeks ago, what had happened since then to make it all right now?

Though the President didn't announce it until Aug. 3, he knew on July 21—when the first press dinner was held—that Russia's Nikita Khrushchev had been invited here. There must, or should have been some realization of what that involved, and what the consequences would be.

AMONG THE REPORTERS who wrote the first story were Felix Belair Jr. of the New York Times, Merriman Smith of United Press International and Marvin Arrowsmith of Associated Press. Among those who wrote the second story were W. H. Lawrence of the New York Times, Gould Lincoln of the Washington Star, Edward T. Foilard of the Washington Post and Times-Herald. Reporters just don't come any better than these, so there is no doubt as to accuracy.

The President did say at his next general news conference for the hot polli that he was surprised his first dinner had made such big news.

So for the second one, July 27, the rules were changed. There were to be no stories. But the correspondents could use what he told them as "background."

This turned up toward commas, as in Scripps-Howard Staff Writer Andrew Tully's story, which said:

"Mr. Eisenhower, it can be revealed on the highest authority, feels that since the Russians obviously want a Summit meeting, there is some hope that they will back down in the bickering Geneva demands to achieve this."

By the time the third "off the record" dinner came around on Aug. 7, not even this pretense of revealing it "on the highest authority" was resorted to.

The Russians hadn't backed down at Geneva one bit. Khrushchev hadn't retreated one inch. But now it could be written by a few of the best reporters in town—on nobody's authority but their own—that a Summit meeting might grow out of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks.

It was further written that in view of this possibility, the President would not "mortgage his time" this fall. It was amazing the way all the stories came up with this same phrase about "mortgaging time." What a coincidence.

To anyone able to add up to three, it was obvious that the President had been having another press dinner.

THE REPORTERS PRESENT had been fed a new White House line, along with their fish. They had dutifully gone out and sung it for their supper, as good reporters must do. For anything such a "high authority" says, is news.

It was either that or else the Unnamed Spokesman—Mr. U. S. himself—had forgotten what he told the first group, 17 days before. Anyway, whereas the Summit was "off" on July 21, it was "on" by Aug. 7, without benefit of any prior agreement at the foreign minister level.

"The Horse's Mouth"—source of all inside straight dope on the news tracks—seems to have somebody's foot stuck in it.

Mrs. Harris said she was sure it wasn't anybody's pet "because he snapped at us before we got him tied to a tree." She said the alligator probably came from a nearby swamp.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

COPENHAGEN — On the flight from Idlewild to Moscow I thought many times that Vice President Nixon was taking a reckless chance in view of his notorious personal hatred of communism and of the traitors turned up by the House Committee when he was a Congressman and one of our best Red-baiters. And there was the literally murderous nature of the whole chain of descent from Lenin and Trotsky down to Khrushchev. This is not mere abuse. This is historic truth. They use murder as a normal political method to remove incumbents and dispose of rivals. Khrushchev himself, only three years ago had accused Stalin, who lies in the Kremlin with Lenin, of deporting whole races of Russian subjects from their ancestral homes and dissolving their Soviet Republics by personal decree.

With no doubt of his truthfulness on that point, I was strangely upset by the possibility that he would order the liquidation of an enemy who, in 1960, might become president of the Soviet Union's only equal rival in the world. Khrushchev had, in a word, the veto of this fatal development in history.

By dumping Nixon in a crash on the Moscow strip or in any of the landings on his trip to old St. Petersburg and Siberia, he could throw the presidency to the Democratic party again for another four or eight years or, in any case, to some individual who would be as weak and fawning and treacherous as Roosevelt, Hopkins, and Joe Davies or as stupid as Henry Wallace.

There was no doubt of Khrushchev's power and opportunity now that Nixon and his brave, tired wife were on the wing and committed before the world. Would Khrushchev knock Nixon down and deny all? The Russians did that to 17 unarmed American Air Force men last year. They shot down the five of our men the same way in a slaughter so wanton that Jim Byrnes, our Secretary of State, put in a half-hour calling their ambassador every abusive personal name that he could put his tongue to. Notwithstanding which we had not knocked Tito absolutely out of the air as we could have done. We retaliated by dumping another billion on him.

In fact, just before Nixon took off from Baltimore that night, Khrushchev had remarked that he had no idea why Nixon was going to Moscow, anyway.

So the Nixons, with two little girls back home, were taking a great risk. This political pilgrimage certainly was no duty of a wife already worn almost to exhaustion helping to pick

Power of Public Opinion Is Shown in Labor Bill Voting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Something of epochal importance happened when the House of Representatives last Friday passed at law aimed at stopping abuses of power by labor unions. It was not merely on the merits of the issue that the vote is a notable record, but it was a demonstration of the power of public opinion to cut through party lines.

The nation had given to the Democratic party in the 1958 election overwhelming control of the House of Representatives. Yet the President, a Republican, was able to persuade the people that their representatives in the House should support the measure he favored. Not so long ago some writers were cavalierly dismissing Mr. Eisenhower as a "weak" executive because, not being eligible under the Constitution to be a candidate for reelection, he couldn't influence Congress by promises of appointments and other favors. But this was a superficial view. It was based on a failure to read carefully the pages of American history.

For Presidents like Theodore Roosevelt led even in the second term because they were able to sway public opinion. Mr. Eisenhower, precisely because he cannot run for office again, is looked upon as disinterested. For nearly two years now he has insisted that there must be reform legislation to curb abuses in the labor-management field. The Democratic party-controlled Congress, influenced to no small extent by Northern Democrats who are closely affiliated with labor unions, was hesitant to enact any laws dealing effectively with the abuses exposed by the Senate investigating committee. A plainly dilatory attitude was manifested by the Democratic leadership in the Senate, which acted in 1958 only when it was apparent that it was too late to get the measure through the House at that session.

But the President, counseled by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, insisted on keeping the issue before the people. A bill was drawn up and presented at the start of the current session of Congress. It was prepared by the Secretary of Labor. Though Mr. Mitchell has been looked upon as somewhat inclined to be a partisan of the labor-union cause—especially because of his refusal to endorse wholeheartedly the right-to-work doctrine—he turned out to be a true friend of both labor and management by persistently urging that a measure be passed to deal with the flagrant abuses exposed by the McClellan committee.

The labor-union leaders who opposed the Administration measures never made a bigger mistake. They failed to see that statesmanship really demanded their support of the reform measure. Instead, they cried out that the bill would hurt "legitimate unionism."

Criminal Element Cited
This was like saying that legitimately operated unions could not function if certain abuses were corrected and that the country had to pay the price of enduring indefinitely the hardships imposed by the criminal and racketeering element just because of the theoretical objections of other labor leaders.

Too many rank-and-file union members have held the same view. Unions, to them, are sacred—a sort of super-government. Union officers wield the power to tax every employee in a plant and make him pay dues and assessments without his consent. Union officers determine that a worker must be fired if he refuses to join a union. Union officers decide whether dues members shall be used to help elect a party or a candidate that the worker himself may oppose. Many unions do not permit a secret ballot on such issues.

Such absolutism has not yet run its course, but the bill passed last Friday by the House of Representatives, far from swinging the balance away from unions toward the employer, actually swings it away from the racketeering union leader or the craven employer toward the worker by preserving his civil rights.

The country owes a debt of gratitude to many Democrats from the South. It was they who joined with Northern Republicans in a coalition that has managed on other occasions, too, in the last several years to save America from the depressions of a radical and spendthrift bloc of so-called "liberals" who profess to be in favor of human rights but who actually vote to give monopoly powers to special groups which help them to win election with big campaign funds.

Efforts will be made by this same group to water down the labor-reform legislation just passed by the House. But the public will be alerted to the battle and, if the Senate fails to act, the Republicans will go to the country in 1960 with the best issue they have had in years. For the nation once saw laws passed to punish wicked corporations when they usurped power, and it will insist on the same treatment now for those who betray the workers by conducting autocratic unions and setting up one-man dictatorships which brazenly use methods that are plainly violative of individual rights. are the most incompetent slobs on earth. They can't even ring a doorbell much less install one.

As for physics, that stuff is all in the books. Our students are as smart as theirs. If they have any scientific bulge they got it from the German double-domes whom they captured when Truman and Ike surrendered the victory in 1945 and from Klaus Fuchs, and the moonmouth traitors whom Joe McCarthy tried to expose.

I will discourse further on my observations in Russia, with emphasis on their yearning to be free and their inability to feed Moscow any better vegetable than pale cucumbers, nubbins tomatos and grass in midsummer.

Five Are Arrested After Buffalo Brawl

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A misunderstanding laugh in a barroom apparently touched off a brawl that spilled into the street and drew a milling crowd of about 120 Negroes and whites.

No one was reported hurt in the fight Saturday night, but three Negroes and two whites were arrested on minor charges.

Police Capt. William J. Shanahan said Sunday the fight apparently began when a white man mistakenly thought a Negro, who was laughing at a television program, was laughing at him.

Shanahan said, however, "there was absolutely nothing racial about it."

The fight began in a tavern near Carlton and Locust Streets on Buffalo's east side. Chairs were broken and bottles were thrown about.

About 25 policemen in 10 patrol cars rushed to the corner when neighbors telephoned them. Shanahan said first reports put the crowd at about 200, but later the consensus was that there were about 120, mostly neighbors drawn by the noise.

Shanahan said the neighborhood has been white and Negro for some time and that, in the tavern where the fight, started "whites and Negroes get along fine."

"It was a bar brawl that spilled into the street," he said.

Two white men and two Negroes were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and a Negro woman was charged with refusing the reasonable request of a police officer. All pleaded innocent in City Court Sunday and were released without bail pending a hearing today.

Boy Unharmed, Spends Night in Sewer in Cohoes

COHOES, N. Y. (AP) — Police sought today to determine how a 4-year-old boy got into a city sewer, where he apparently spent the night.

The child, Armand LaForest Jr., told several versions of what happened. He was unharmed except for minor scratches.

Armand was found by his 12-year-old sister Sunday after he had been missing overnight. A heavy steel lid covered the manhole. Police said they were certain Armand could not have lifted the cover to get in or out of the hole.

His mother said the boy ran from the yard Saturday when a Navy blimp passed overhead, on its way back from escorting a Year of History flotilla in the Hudson River to Albany.

Mrs. LaForest said Armand told her an older boy had put him in the sewer. Police said Armand told two other versions of what happened. They did not disclose what these were.

Confederate Vet Remains 'About Same'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Confederate veteran Walter Williams, critically ill for a week, remains "about the same," his daughter said Sunday night.

Williams, 116, last survivor of the Civil War armies, took some nourishment Sunday morning but none the rest of the day.

Dr. Russell Wolfe, Williams' physician, reported a week ago that the old soldier's death could be expected within days. An attack of pneumonia about six weeks ago left him in weakened condition.

If it happens to or near a "star" or "celebrity," (by Hollywood or TV standards) it's big news, and a magazine lead feature for weeks and months.

Everything from expectancy to earache makes the wires and headlines, if the subject once had even a walk-on role in movies or TV. The slick sheets pick it up from there.

I've a notion that folks are getting sort of fed up on it; that it is back-firing, like too much of anything. It's getting to be silly.

This is heresy, coming from an old bird who stole acres of "show news" space back when Hollywood was a wilderness and "public relations" vice presidents were hungry press agents whom editors met at the door with shotguns.

What a bonanza for today's gray-suited gentry; that gets paid for what we couldn't sneak into publications.

If I'm excommunicated for a few odious comparisons it will be worth it. The shallow, inane things that get into print today, if pinned upon show people, would have shamed the old press agent out of his profession, for a subtle profession it once was. Its practitioners were inventors and architects of the cleverest and most imaginative yarns, appellation and phrases. Much became part of the nation's speech and language.

They got into print because their creations were irresistible even to cranky, suspicious editors; they won the title of "lovable liars" with the public, who never met them or saw a by-line.

THEIR successors are adding nothing to the "racket." Mostly they are run of mine reporters of the inconsequential, souped up by name dropping or scandal; amplification of the ordinary and of events that the common man experiences regularly; in the main, clumsy excuses to get a client into the news. Their authors are the naivest of the naive, whom they think they are fooling. It wasn't always thus.

WHEN THE American circus created press agency it made no claims to the "authenticity" that today gets by with otherwise discriminating journals. Superlatives and exaggeration once were intentional giveaways. Today it reads like gospel.

And stoops to the bizarre. When 100 people escape death in a weird Idlewild jet landing, obscure movie people get the news play. Of hundreds of California homes burned in forest fires only the "stars" get mentioned. So every day the press wires read like Variety; Welk has girl trouble, etc.

What a Roman holiday the old masters could have; the peers of them all who never had such freedom: Toady Hamilton, Major Burke, Dexter Fellows, Ed Norwood, Lester Thompson, Doc Waddell, just a few at whose feet I worshipped; men of fascinating imagination.

Back when to get it printed it had to be super cute or such a damned lie that no one could be fooled by it. Now, just mention Little Tessie Delrose or Hollywood... and it makes Page One. (Copyright, 1959, General Features Corp.)

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, in its quest for situations that lend themselves to comedy, finally has come to the case of a syndicated newspaper columnist.

Dennis O'Keefe is cast in the role of the columnist, Hal Towne, in a new situation comedy filmed weekly series that bows onto CBS-TV the night of Sept. 22 as "The Dennis O'Keefe Show."

Talk with O'Keefe for a while and you'll feel that it couldn't happen to a nicer guy. Why should a successful movie actor want to become a columnist?

"Because it's fun," says O'Keefe. "And we think a lot of other people are going to find it fun too."

As Hal Towne, O'Keefe not only will write six columns a week for his syndicate. He will face harassments (a crutchless boss, a sharp-tongued housekeeper played by Hope Emerson), responsibilities (this motherless 10-year-old son played by Rickey Kelman), temptations (a beautiful lady press agent and various pretty girls). Nevertheless, he likes the job.

"Omnibus" insists it isn't dead, but only has slowed down for a time with the expectation of returning again.

The show produced by Robert Saudek Associates plans four "Omnibus" type productions on NBC-TV in the coming season. One will star Peter Ustinov in a still undecided program, says the network. But that was contracted for 16 months ago.

It's surprising how many TV specials in the coming season will present familiar, tried and true entertainment vehicles.

Art Carney, who is doing six specials for NBC-TV, will star in "Our Town" Jan. 8. Jerry Lewis will star in "The Jazz Singer" and "Merton of the Movies" for the same network.

Space Monkey Now Living Alone Again

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Miss Baker, the space monkey, is still too young to marry, says a Navy physiologist.

The only reason a male monkey shared her cage for a couple of weeks was to alleviate a "monkey housing problem" at Pensacola Naval Air Station, said Dr. Donald Stulken.

Cushing Says All Soviets Visiting U. S. Are Spies

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, terming American propaganda "ineffectual, to say the least," warns that every Russian visiting the United States is a spy.

Richard Cardinal Cushing said in a sermon Sunday, that every foreign visitor of any rank who has come or will come to this country is a master of deceit.

"Every person with rank or without rank is a spy. Each has a trained intelligence officer with him—a master of deceit."

The Cardinal did not refer by name to Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who will visit the United States next month as a guest of President Eisenhower.

The cold-war, which the cardinal called the third world war, may last 100 years, he said. If we lose it, "we will lose the United States of America as we now know it without a single shot being fired," Cushing said.

The one thing feared by the Communists is religion. Let me urge those of Christian faith — of any denomination — to duplicate in their lives the life of Christ," he said.

An estimated 10,000 national guardsmen, reservists and civilians from the Watertown area attended the outdoor Mass. Cushing officiated for Massachusetts troops now training here.

SNAKES IN THE GRASS

If you are a lover of the great outdoors and don't want snake-bite to spoil your fun, choose a camp site in Maine or Alaska. Those are the only two states in the Union where there are no poisonous snakes. Most of the 35 poisonous species known in the U. S. are pit vipers, which include rattlers, copperheads, and water moccasins.

About 3,000 people are bitten by snakes each year. Fortunately, deaths are few, no more than 10 or 20 a year. However, outdoor activities like camping, hiking and picnicking are getting more popular. High boots or leggings and a stick to explore underbrush before moving into it are wise.

Usually bites occur out in the wilds with no doctor near by, so the victim himself or a companion should be able to apply first aid. The important thing is to keep calm, keep the victim quiet (to avoid pumping the poison rapidly through the blood stream), then:

1) Apply a tight bandage to restrict the spread of the poison. This is not a tourniquet and shouldn't be too tight. The poison is just under the skin.

2) Make an X-shaped cut over each fang mark and use suction to remove the venom. A suction cup should be part of an outdoor first aid kit, or the poison can be sucked into the mouth and spit out. Keep up for a half hour or hour.

If the swelling advances beyond the bite, cuts should be made at the edge of the swelling and more suction applied. Move the bandage, too.

Snakebite is always a medical emergency. As soon as the victim reaches a hospital antivenin will be given, if the bite is serious. A bite on the arm or leg is less dangerous than one near a vital organ, like the heart. It is more serious for the very young or the very old, but luckily they are less likely to be within reach of poisonous snakes.

The effects of snakebite may include vomiting, shock, muscular twitching, blood coagulation difficulties, and internal hemorrhage. If he gets safely through the first 48 hours, the patient is usually out of danger. Man, Boy Killed By Bolts During Troy Area Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TROY, N. Y. (AP) — A young man and a boy were killed by separate bolts of lightning and six persons were injured during a quick-striking storm that raged across Snyder's Lake, east of here.

Peter Rede, 20, of Watervliet, was killed Sunday by the first bolt, which split two trees and flashed through a cottage where Rede had sought shelter beneath a porch. Five occupants of the cottage were injured, none seriously.

The second bolt struck Thomas Van Deusen, 12, as he sat in a chair in a 14-foot metal rowboat about 150-feet from shore. His companion, Lawrence Hooley, 14, of Colonie, was knocked unconscious.

Hooley's brother, Jack, and his stepfather, James Eagan, plunged into the water and pulled the two boys to shore. Hooley was revived by artificial respiration, treated at a Troy hospital and discharged.

The other injured suffered burns. They were Michael Curtin, 55, of Troy; his wife, Ethel, 48; James Miles, 36, of Troy; Miles' daughter, Jane, 8; and Frank Whitney, 38, of Watervliet.

Whitney was discharged after treatment at Samaritan Hospital in Troy. Curtin was reported in fair condition, the others in good condition.

The Van Deusen youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Van Deusen of Snyder's Lake.

State Mails Out Forms for Data Under Labor Law

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The first of more than 750,000 reporting forms will be mailed this week to businesses and unions that come under the state's pioneering anti-rackets labor law.

The law covers firms that employ 10 or more persons regularly and all local, national and international unions.

The State Labor Department will mail copies of the law with the forms to about 70,000 business firms, approximately 5,500 union offices, 1,200 employer trade organizations and 85 labor consultants. Lawyers do not come under the legal definition of labor consultant.

Under the law, unions are required to report what they do with money they receive and management must report spending on labor relations. The forms must be returned by Dec. 1.

The penalty for failure to file a report, or for a false statement in the report, ranges up to a $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

The turtle has roamed the earth's land and sea in virtually unchanged form for 200 million years, according to scientists.

Influenced by Soviets

National Goals Ike's Idea for Incentive

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, watching the Soviet rush to come abreast of the United States, feels this country needs some driving urge to think less of leisure and money and more of work and achievement.

So, before setting out for Moscow later this year to return Premier Nikita Khrushchev's mid-September visit here, Eisenhower's thinking is being influenced by the Soviet efforts.

Conscious of Efforts

He is very conscious of those efforts. This may be why earlier this year, in his State of the Union message, he proposed creating a committee to suggest goals for America.

The President is now ready—although he hasn't said so publicly—to name this committee as soon as he can get private organizations to pay for its work. He doesn't want the government to foot the bill.

Eisenhower is known to think that national goals might give us an incentive toward which to work. Just as the Soviet Union has had its five and seven-year plans. He looks upon those Soviet plans, which keep the people hard at work, as the moral equivalent of war.

He thinks we need something in this country as an incentive to get our minds on accomplishment and not on a shorter work week and more leisure.

Against Short Week

We must attach more importance, he thinks, to good, hard work and less to progress by demagoguery or trying to make a million.

On the short work week, he recalls wartime talks with a French professor who said the cause of France's defeat in 1940 came from trying to match a French four-day week against Hitler's seven-day week.

The President, remembering Edward Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," thinks that is what is happening to us now, that we are too interested in leisure and pleasure. That's a gloomy view for a president. It seems to be overlooking one thing: that Gibbon's criterion for judging civilization and progress was the measure in which men's happiness is secured, and of that happiness he considered political freedom an essential condition.

So, while the Soviets have made material strides, their lack of freedom is the opposite of Gibbon's conception of happiness, while to Gibbon the freedom enjoyed by Americans would be a mark of progress, civilization, and happiness.

But Eisenhower seems to have varying views on the Soviet Union at various times.

While at one time he considers the seven-year plan as the moral equivalent of war and is impressed by the work it gets done, at another time he notes that to increase production, the Communists must offer incentives, like extra pay.

One Essential Difference

There is, of course, an essential difference between Khrushchev's seven-year plan and any American goals thought up by a study committee.

One is mandatory in a Soviet where the state has absolute control over the people and the means of production; the other would have to be voluntary in a free enterprise system.

Khrushchev, for instance, can order Soviet steel production capacity doubled and at the same time not only can find a ready market for every ounce of steel produced but decide where and for what it shall be used.

No matter what goals a president's committee proposes, the steel industry is free to increase its capacity only as there is a free and competitive market for its product.

Up to Committee

Eisenhower never precisely explained in his State of the Union message just what goals he had in mind. Presumably, he would let his committee figure this out.

He said the committee would be concerned with living standards, health, education, greater assurance of life, liberty and opportunity, and methods to meet such goals, and what state, federal and local governments should be concerned.

2 Women Jailed After Fight at Plattekill Inn

Two New York City women were arrested late Saturday night by State Troopers Harry Foster and James Kaljian of Highland, on charges of third degree assault as the aftermath of a fight which authorities said occurred in the Villa Perez at Plattekill.

Troopers identified the defendants as Georgina Perez, 36, and Colia Tizario, 38, both of New York City.

According to authorities the two women engaged in a fight in the tavern, one armed with a broken bottle and the other wielding a razor. Miss Perez received superficial wounds of the chest and the other woman suffered lacerations of the forehead and cheek, troopers said.

Both women were remanded to the Ulster County jail pending the posting of bail. Hearing

Local Delegates Attend Christian Endeavor Parley

Two hundred young people from all over New York State met for the week of August 8-15 on the shore of Lake Canandaigua in the Finger Lakes Region to discuss religious ideals and problems. A delegation from the Ulster County area participated in the annual summer assembly of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union. Church leaders, interested business men and women, and former graduates of the assembly formed the faculty which conducted classes in the conference held at the LeTourneau Christian Camp, Canandaigua. The theme of the conference was "Forward For Christ."

The classes covered such topics as "Adventures in Prayer," "The Life of Christ," "Growing into Life," "World Friendships" and other facets of Christian life.

Those in attendance from the Old Dutch Church of Kingston were Robert Haines, Joan Sanft, and Beth Ann Keater. The Community Friends Church of Tilton was represented by Janet Wakeley, David Talleur, Richard B. Talleur, Kay Serenbetz, Pam Vooten, Diane Deyo, Peggy Sutherland, Betsy Wakeley, James Christianson, Debbie Hunsburger and Janice Sarr.

Christian Endeavor is an interdenominational youth group formed in the churches all over the world to promote Christian living among today's youth. The attendees from the Ulster County area are members of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, and the Community Friends Church of Tilton.

In addition to the study work, the teenagers spent the afternoon swimming, horseback riding, or participating in a number of other sports offered at the LeTourneau Camp.

Cornell Will Remain Highly Selective

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Cornell University intends to remain relatively small, highly selective and adamant in scholastic requirements, its president says. Dean W. Malott, in his annual report to alumni Saturday, also revealed that the largest building program in the university's history will be completed in 1961.

By then, he said, 89 million dollars will have been spent for buildings and expanded facilities at the main campus, and at Cornell medical and research centers in New York City, Geneva and Buffalo.

JTB Puts Bid In Right Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The moment that he hears his partner's no-trump opening North wants to be in a heart game.

If North plays four hearts he is not likely to make his contract. East has an automatic spade lead and eventually West will get two spades and either a diamond or a club while East is sure to make his king of trumps.

If South plays four hearts he has a cinch to make his contract. Assume the best defense which is a trump lead. South goes up with dummy's ace, plays the jack of clubs and lets it ride. West wins but he has no way to reach his partner.

How does South get to play hearts? Easy enough! He uses the Jacoby transfer bid or the Texas convention. In the Texas convention the bid of four diamonds demands that the no-trump bidder go to four hearts. In the JTB either a two diamond or four diamond bid demands a heart bid by the opener.

This North hand calls for the use of the four diamond bid since North knows exactly where he wants to land and the JTB and Texas convention are the same.

Harry C. France

By HARRY C. FRANCE

I am vacationing in Canada. Every year in this 1,000-guest resort I meet a remarkable man. He is in the front rank when one considers industry and thrift. His career has been remarkable.

He was born and reared in Riga, Latvia. His parents are still unwilling citizens of that country. In 1948, he escaped from that prison country and fled to Sweden. From Sweden he went to Germany to seek a new life.

In 1949, after he had secured a job in Canada as a lumberjack at 54 cents an hour, Canada admitted him to an Ontario lumber camp. After a year there, he took his accumulated savings and went to Hamilton, Ontario, to attend an evening school where he could learn English.

In Hamilton he got a job as a dishwasher at small wages. There he took courses in English and cooking. His efficiency as a dishwasher won him a job as a bus boy and within a few weeks he was head bus boy.

His next job was as a cook. Then he became head cook. By this time his command of English was such as to enable him to get a job as a waiter in one of the leading hotels of Canada. His diligence soon won for him the position of headwaiter, and about four years ago he was made director of service in the dining rooms in the hotel where in recent years I have been spending a month's vacation every summer.

Since 1953 he has saved over $20,000 and this money is on deposit in Canadian banks at 2 1/2 per cent.

Every summer during my holidays here he reads my weekly articles. He has written down the names of a score of leading corporations I have mentioned and during his spare moments he has made inquiry about them.

This month he is going to invest $15,000 of his savings. I gave him the names of 20 Canadian and American corporations whose economic foundations are built into the fabric of these two great countries.

Readers of this column may be curious to know which corporations he has selected. No pressure and no sales talk accompanied these suggestions. A paragraph about each company was dictated to him. Here are his selections:

1. Canadian Pacific. His employer is this leading company.

2. Imperial Oil. This is Canada's largest oil enterprise.

3. Morgan-Guarenty Trust Company. Two years ago at this hotel I suggested he buy the stock of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York at around $70 a share. It is now over $100.

America and the world need a million industrious, resourceful, thrifty men and like him. He escaped from a political dungeon in Latvia and in 12 years he has made a name for himself here.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Says Los Angeles Withdraws Offer For Dems Parley

Court to Decide Future

ATLANTA (AP) — The future of eight children, given away by their mother after their father abandoned them, apparently will be decided in the courts.

Mrs. Carl Daniel Quisenberry, 28, faces a charge of neglect. Her 32-year-old husband is scheduled to get a hearing in city court on a charge of suspicion of abandonment.

Mrs. Quisenberry admitted giving her children to friends and relatives. She said she tried to run away from her troubles after her husband left and both money and food were exhausted.

France to Demand Allies Help on Algerian Front

L'ILE BOUCHARD, France (AP) — Premier Michel Debre says France won't be pushed around by her allies any more and will demand they back up her war in Algeria all the way.

His speech sounded like a public preview of what President Charles de Gaulle will tell President Eisenhower when the two confer in private next month.

Debre spoke to his constituents Sunday in this Loire Valley village in west central France.

Supporter of De Gaulle. The premier, a faithful supporter of De Gaulle's goal of restoring the authority of France on the international scene, insisted this does not mean France is doomed to stand alone within the Western alliance.

He said De Gaulle's policy "is a reaction against the alliances which, through our weakness, led to our subjection to foreign powers which did not hesitate to oppose our essential interests."

Commenting that Algeria had been "created by us, that is to say by Frenchmen from our soil," the premier said "the destiny of France is linked with the Algerian destiny — everything changes for us according to whether we hold or do not hold on to this old territory."

"It is for renovated France to make her allies understand that she has the right to demand all their most complete support for a cause which goes far beyond a people and a generation."

The United States in recent years has refused to give France the full backing she wants for her Algerian policy. The Americans have tried to take a middle road, hoping they won't offend the French too much and at the same time trying not to anger the Asian and African nations who support the Algerian rebels.

Wants Equal Voice. De Gaulle also wants a voice equal to those of the United States and Britain in the decisions of the Atlantic Alliance — although France has pulled most of her troops out of Europe to fight in Algeria.

"To avoid being crushed by agreements between very great powers, a nation like France must be in a position to make itself heard and understood," he said.

The Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange is the ostensible reason for the American president's visit to Paris next month. He also will go to London and Bonn to discuss Allied policy.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler today was expected to announce an end to the ticket argument that threatened to cost Los Angeles the party's 1960 convention.

Republican Mayor Norris Poulson, denying a Chicago newspaper report that Los Angeles had withdrawn its offer to hold the convention, said: "I'm positive it will be held here."

Pauley Absent

Conspicuously absent from a conference scheduled late this afternoon will be wealthy oilman Edwin O. Pauley, credited by many with raising most of the $350,000 necessary to underwrite convention costs.

Pauley returned to his home in the Hawaiian Islands Friday after an inconclusive meeting with Butler and the host committee.

The Chicago Tribune said Los Angeles has withdrawn its $350,000 offer to be host for the party's 1960 convention, according to a member of the city's convention committee. It said official announcement was delayed until today to give Butler an opportunity to organize a new Los Angeles sponsoring committee, or to reorganize the old one.

Chicago Still Possible. The paper said other sources disclosed that the committee will meet today in an effort to find a new financial "angel" to replace Pauley. It added if Butler is unable to arrange Los Angeles financing, Chicago will automatically be back in the running as host convention city.

Pauley insisted he was given a guarantee of 5,000 convention tickets in exchange for his fund-raising efforts. That would be ten times more than any host city has ever received.

Butler says there was no guarantee.

"The host city can have 1,500 tickets and I don't mean 1,501," he said.

When it looked as if an impasse had been reached, Poulson suggested a compromise. Would Pauley accept 3,133 tickets? Pauley, an old friend of former President Harry S. Truman and no admirer of Butler, said he would.

Butler stood by his guns. He telephoned County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn last Wednesday and said he would begin shopping for a new convention site if Los Angeles did not agree to accept 1,500 tickets.

early days. I was scared to death all the time. The Japs had everything. They could have wiped us out.

His daring made the shoe-string fleet a telling weapon. His motto was simple—"Hit hard, hit fast and hit often."

Only a few months after taking command, he led his forces deep into the Pacific for a strike at the Marshall and Gilbert islands, the first big naval offensive of the war.

Leaves Widow, Children. Finally his forces gained control of the Pacific and in 1945, during a 35-day period, his command destroyed or damaged 2,804 enemy planes, sank or damaged 148 Japanese combat ships and sank or damaged 1,508 merchant ships.

He leaves his widow, a son, William F. Halsey III, and a daughter, Mrs. Preston L. Spruance.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices poked higher in drab trading early this afternoon.

Most key shares picked up only small fractions. Many issues held unchanged. Minor losers sprinkled the list.

Motors, rubbers, metals, chemicals, tobacco and drugs generally posted the widest gains. Oils were mixed while electrical equipment issues retreated.

Investors remained cautious following the severe market shake-out a week ago, brokers said.

Prices crept higher from the opening, adding tiny fractions as the session progressed.

U. S. Steel stepped up close to a point in an otherwise stagnant steel group.

Coppers pushed ahead in the face of threats of further industry strikes. Kennecott climbed around 1.

DuPont picked up almost 2 and Olin Mathieson around 1. Gains of around a point were scored by Goodyear, Liggett & Myers and Schering.

But Westinghouse Electric and General Electric skidded close to a point.

He said the "best refutation" of any such statement was the fact that he chose to run for governor a year ago when polls taken at the time showed he was a distinct underdog.

Loss of Benefits Noted by Social Security Office

"There are still many aged parents in Ulster and Sullivan Counties who are eligible for social security benefits but who have failed to apply for them," stated George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston district office of the Social Security Administration. "We are interested in assisting these people in filing their claims," he stated.

Johnson pointed out that recent changes in the law make it possible for dependent parents to qualify even if the deceased worker left a widow or child surviving. Parents whose claims were turned down because of this limitation may now re-apply and become entitled to monthly payments.

To be eligible, parents must, as a rule, file proof of dependency within two years of the worker's death. However, parents whose claims were denied because a wife or child survived the deceased worker have until September 1960 to establish their dependency. This change in the law may qualify dependents of workers who died as early as January 1940. A parent who has established dependency may draw benefits at retirement age, age 62 for women, age 65 for men.

Monthly social security payments may be in order to 62 year old women and 65 year old men teachers and other employees for months between school years.

Social Security checks can be paid for any month in which the employee did not earn over $80 during 1958, or over $100 in 1959. Wage payments made during July and August which were earned in some other months are not considered earnings for July or August. Applications are 12 months retroactive, so an application filed now could result in payments for July and August 1958.

Your Social Security Office is located at 61 Albany Avenue, telephone FEderal 8-7307.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE STATUS SEEKERS

By Vance Packard

The author first became interested in the study of social stratification by observing the behavior of a herd of 18 cows on his father's farm in Pennsylvania. Gertrude was always first through the gate to the feeding station, the others each seemed to keep her appointed place in line, which always ended with the runt. Until a new cow was added to the herd, the newcomer proceeded to butt or bluff her way to the head of the line, displacing Gertrude. After that Gertrude became neurotic and a mean milker.

From his broad and searching study of the behavior of present day status seekers, Mr. Packard has concluded that Americans have become a nation of highly classified people with sharply drawn limits for each class. He has discovered that every American community of any size has five clearly defined strata of society. First-top-level — highest ranking officer of large corporations, banks, etc. and ultra successful professionals — all with very high incomes and, preferably, with inherited wealth. Second — High-salaried executives only — little lower in rank than presidents and vice presidents. Third — junior executives; managers; doctors; lawyers; dentists, etc. Fourth — average salaried clerks; skilled workers etc. Fifth — Itinerant workers; unskilled labor and all those below them.

The scramble that goes on to rise to the level above one's own and, above all, to hold the new status is unbelievable, as are visible evidences used to show their exact place on the social ladder.

To maintain one's place on the upper level, one's lower grade friends must be dropped and new ones must be acquired and impressed by such things as an exclusive address; an imposing home; large lawns and gardens; tasteful furnishings (Some buy antiques and paintings to indicate old family background) De Luxe cars, taller television masts, etc. Childish competition.

To attain a place in one of the two topmost levels, if one is not born there, there are certain unchangeable rules to be observed. Sons must be educated at one of the Ivy League colleges—Harvard, Yale or Princeton and having also graduated from one of the accepted "prep" schools—such as St. Paul's; Groton; Hotchkiss and a few others. Daughters must attend one of the approved fashionable eastern finishing schools in order to have any chance whatever of being properly launched into society later. That's just to get a start. There are many other barriers to cross.

And the way rank is indicated in corporation offices! Wall to wall carpeting; mahogany furniture; amount of floor space; private washroom and toilet—sometimes even gold-plated hardware—are among the devices used to mark the differences between president and vice president, executive and junior executives, managers and assistant managers and so on down the line to the plain, bare-floored general offices for the ordinary force. Sounds silly but that is the way it is. There are even instances where an executive, with an eye on the future will turn down a large salary increase in favor of some high office perquisite—"Perks" as the British call them. They are more impressive.

The author goes on to give the results of extended research. How Americans rate one another not only in terms of their jobs, cars, houses, etc., but also in their churches, politics, speech, sports, reading and even their drinks!

The rat race that goes on constantly to keep a little ahead of the crowd, to keep up appearances; the struggle to be seen always at the right places, with the right people; to shop in the right stores, etc., often prove to be too much for the strivers. Many become hopeless neurotics. That is the price of success in this game.

There is a thoughtful chapter about the treatment of Jews which may well be given deep consideration. Altogether it looks as though the American Dream of equal opportunity for all is still a long way off.

LONDON (AP)—London army of street walkers is expected to go underground at midnight tonight.

Up to now they have faced a nominal fine of two pounds—$3.60—paid up willingly and gone back to their beat.

Site for Ike's Talk

LONDON (AP)—A rambling Tudor mansion set high in England's Chiltern Hills will be the main site of President Eisenhower's talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The big gray residence, some 40 miles from London, is called Chequers. For nearly 40 years it has been the week-end retreat of British prime ministers.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

If the readers would like to see what John Burroughs' Slab-sides looks like, they have a chance to see good pictures of it in the Esopus Town Hall window in Port Ewen. I do not know how long the John Burroughs' window, arranged by his granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley, will be on display. Mrs. Kelley just wrote "John Burroughs, Naturalist" a book about her grandfather, although I have not seen or read it yet, I heard some nice comments on it.

Slab-sides was built near West Park in 1895 by John Burroughs. It was a study retreat some two miles from Riverby his home overlooking the Hudson. It is maintained by the John Burroughs' Society as a memorial to him. Besides his stone house, Burroughs built two rustic retreats. Although Burroughs had a place to retreat and contemplate as few of us have, he mixed socially as few of us can. Among his close friends was Henry Ford, Teddy Roosevelt and many other prominent men, who often came to his retreat and he went to their homes. Burroughs visited the President at the White House and took a trip to Yellowstone Park with him. Burroughs also went to Alaska with the Harrimans and the former Governor who was a boy at that time.

In all, Burroughs wrote some 27 books and was a great reader himself, having over 1,000 books at his retreat. The American Museum of Natural History in New York City has a John Burroughs' exhibit. His granddaughter, graduated from Kingston High School in 1921 and was president of the John Burroughs' Audubon Society there.

Elizabeth Burroughs had other talents besides writing for she was the art editor of the Maroon, and also class day speaker. She won an award in history and tied for the French award. In looking through the 1921 Maroon, I see her sketch for "Seniors." I wonder if the nice old man with a beard, under an oil lamp was supposed to be her grandfather, and the modern girl student under an electric light opposite him reminds me of Elizabeth herself. Her "Literary" sketch maybe a view of her own home in those days with the view of the Hudson, perhaps that was Riverby she sketched. She did a good sketch of Kate Walton sitting behind the desk and a scared student coming towards her. Elizabeth called it, "When a feller needs a friend!"

Somewhere at a sale I bought a second-hand book by John Burroughs, "Wake Robin." In it I found newspaper clippings dated before 1910. That's what I like about old books. I like to look at things left in them, penciled marginal notes by a previous reader. One newspaper clipping reads: "Many years ago in Rochester, a robin built its nest on the frame of an engine of the New York Central Railroad. The engine ran daily between Rochester and DeWitt, but the robin sat quietly on its nest between the trips and did not seem disturbed by clanging of the bell or puffing of the steam. The engineer of the train watched over the robin, and both were happy in each other's company." The little robin in that tiny nest from twigs and the engineer behind the tremendous powerful man-made engine caring hundreds of people. Such little stories although written half a century ago make one think of so many things.

Oil is produced in 195 of the 254 counties in Texas.

Miss Jacqueline June Hopkins and Donald E. Manning exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, Aug. 15 at the Zion Methodist Church, Manlius. Officiating at the 1 p. m. ceremony was the Rev. Lewis Bachman.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence R. Chapman of Manlius and John A. Hopkins of Ellenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Manning, 105 High Street, Manlius.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, William T. Hookey Jr., of Lake Katrine, wore a gown of Swiss organdy accented with puffed taffeta rosebuds surrounded by Schiffler embroidered motifs. The scalloped neckline was square and the waistline scored with narrow folds of white taffeta that widened into a broad back panel caught with a large flat bow. The back of the skirt terminated in a chapel train. Her French illusion fingertip veil was held in place with a Juliet cap of matching organdy and rosebuds adorned with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli and pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara Wood of Accord, wore a ballerina length dress of aqua organdy. Her dress had a scoop neckline with "V" back and white taffeta sash which crossed at the waist and tied in the back. Her headpiece was a band of aqua petals with a short veil. She carried a white bouquet of pink and white gladioli.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marcia Manning sister of the bridegroom, Miss Patricia Stacken of Kerhonkson, Miss Barbara Chapman of Manlius and Miss Elizabeth Strauss, cousin of the bride from Wellesley Hills, Mass. The bridesmaids wore the same style dresses as the maid of honor but in reserve colors, white organdy with aqua sashes. They, too, wore small headpieces which were bands of aqua petals with short veils. They carried aqua baskets of gladioli.

Best man was Stanley Moss of Manlius. Ushers were David Collins, Gerald Sterrett, Charles Stebbins and Paul Brooks.

A garden reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chapman in Cazenovia.

Mrs. Manning was graduated from Kerhonkson High School in 1953. She is now a senior at Cortland State Teachers College and will graduate in January. She is a member of Sigma Gamma Phi Sorority.

The couple plan to make their home in Manlius.

Ike on Greens Early

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower, with his 11-year-old grandson as his partner, got in some early morning golf today in advance of a visit to his Hotel Gettysburg office.

The President and David showed up at the Gettysburg Country club at 7:40 a. m., earlier than his usual time.

The hour apparently was too early for Eisenhower's house guests and frequent golfing companions, Clifford Roberts, Walter Jones and William E. Robinson.

The double ring ceremony took place at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer with the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise officiating.

Mrs. Lester E. Decker was organist and John Koch soloist. Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and majestic daisies decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride's uncle, Louis C. DeVeau, gave her in marriage. She wore a white pure silk organza gown of embroidered Schiffler cut on basque lines with a deeply scalloped neckline. Her long pointed bridal sleeves buttoned at the wrists and the full skirt ended in a deep chapel length train. A veil of silk illusion designed in elbow length, was gathered to a tiara headpiece of embroidered silk organza. She carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Donald A. Hauck of Lexington, Ky., the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. She wore a white organdy over Nile green with draped midriff section of two-toned green taffeta leaves. Mrs. Hauck carried a cascade of salmon colored

On Sunday, Aug. 16, Miss Barbara Joan Schwartz, daughter of Mrs. Louis Schwartz, 39 Montrose Avenue, and the late Lewis Schwartz, wed Bill Lee Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Burnett, St. Joseph's Mo.

The double ring ceremony took place at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer with the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise officiating.

Mrs. Lester E. Decker was organist and John Koch soloist. Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and majestic daisies decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride's uncle, Louis C. DeVeau, gave her in marriage. She wore a white pure silk organza gown of embroidered Schiffler cut on basque lines with a deeply scalloped neckline. Mrs. Donald A. Hauck of Lexington, Ky., the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. She wore a white organdy over Nile green with draped midriff section of two-toned green taffeta leaves. Mrs. Hauck carried a cascade of salmon colored glamellias and ivy.

Wearing gowns identical to that worn by the matron of honor were the attendants, Mrs. John E. Clappett of Catskill, sister of the bride; Mrs. John J. Tancredi, sister of the bride; and Mrs. L. Lloyd Lawrence, New Paltz. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Beth D. Hauck of Lexington, Ky., the bride's niece, wore white over pink but styled exactly as that worn by the attendants. All the attendants carried cascades of pale pink gladioli and ivy.

The Misses Cathy Ann and Patricia D. Clappett of Catskill, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore white over pink and carried fireside baskets of sweetheart roses, delphinium, baby's breath and ivy. They also wore pale pink bonnets of white organdy over pink.

Frank D. Ratliff was best man. Ushers were John E. Clappett of Catskill and John J. Tancredi, both brothers-in-law of the bride. L. Lloyd Lawrence of New Paltz and Norman E. Kjerlard. A reception was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The bride was graduated from New Paltz State Teachers College and is a member of the faculty at Hurley School. Her husband, an alumnus of St. Joseph University College and University of Missouri, served two years in the U. S. Army. He is employed as an electrical engineer with IBM in Kingston.

Today Good Taste

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

TAKING FOOD HOME FOR DOG

Dear Mrs. Post: Whenever my husband and I dine out in a restaurant and there is any food left on our plates, I usually wrap it up in a paper napkin and take it home for our dog. My husband thinks this is most improper and shows lack of good breeding. I see absolutely nothing wrong in this and think he is making a fuss over nothing. I told him that I would write to Emily Post to settle the issue and that, if you agreed with him, I would stop this practice.

Answer: It would be better to ask the waiter to wrap up what is left for your dog rather than do it yourself. Relieve your husband by telling him that this is not considered improper.

She Prefers Her Youngest Brother

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my father is not living I have to choose one of my three brothers to give me away at my wedding. My two oldest brothers are married and, while I am very fond of them, I do not feel as close to them as I do my youngest brother who is married and lives at home. I'd like to have my youngest brother give me away but my mother feels that this privilege rightfully belongs to my oldest brother. What is your opinion?

Answer: Your mother is right, but this is not an inflexible rule, and if all your friends and relatives know that you are closer to your youngest brother, you may choose him.

A Bride's Divorced Parents
Dear Mrs. Post: Are both names of divorced parents neither is remarried) ever used together on the same invitations? I do not wish to disregard either parent but don't know how this can be accomplished.

Answer: I am very sorry, but this would be in unthinkably bad taste. Usually they are sent by the mother. In other words, it is not thought disparaging to the father to have her send them, but it would be disparaging to her to have him send them.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet, E-10, entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Cat and Dog Fight

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Someone with a fiendish sense of humor opened a gate at the Columbia Animal Shelter letting 16 stray dogs into an area housing 12 cats. The cats were badly mangled in the affray, after which the dogs escaped the pound. Twelve of the dogs later were picked up.

No Tails, Frills For Rockefeller's Wedding to Anne

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP)—When Steven Rockefeller packed his bag in New York to come and marry his Norwegian bride, he left his formal wear behind.

There will be no tails or dinner jackets at the wedding and reception when the 23-year-old son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller marries Anne Marie Rasmussen next Saturday.

The invitations to 60 or 70 guests, mostly Norwegians except for Steven's family, specify dark suits and short dresses. This is what they wear in this part of the world on such occasions.

Steven has followed local customs in his weeks here. Anne Marie's wedding gown is white and simple, made by a neighbor, who does it as a hobby.

Since Steven came to Norway, he has been seen mostly in jeans and tennis shoes. Occasionally he has worn slacks and a brown tweed jacket.

But, for most part, he has dressed to suit his mode of transportation—a slightly damaged motorbike bought in Oslo at a bargain price.

His blonde fiancée wears skirts and blouses and sometimes slacks.

She seems to feel at ease in almost any attire.

Steven, Marie, her parents and sister came back to the Rasmussen home in Sogne, a community in Kristiansand, shortly before midnight after a week touring some of Norway's mountains by car.

Steven's mother, Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, plans to fly to London tomorrow night, enroute to her son Steven's wedding to Anne Rasmussen at Sogne.

Woodstock Offers Bright Comedy for Opener on Tuesday

The next play at the Woodstock Playhouse, which starts tomorrow, August 18 is a comedy that will dispel the fear of many people that they may be miserable if they should make a lot of money. The play which has just finished a year's run in Paris, is a New York comedy hit called "The Happiest Millionaire," by Kyle Crichton, based on the book he helped Cordelia Drexel Biddle write about her real-life millionaire father, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle—an exuberant and eccentric member of the famous Philadelphia Biddle family. The book was a best seller entitled "My Philadelphia Father." Since Anthony J. Drexel Biddle is portrayed in the play as a zestfully happy man who pursued hobbies with great flourishes, the comedy will give all theatre-goers assurance that they can be safely happy even if they should amass great wealth.

"The Happiest Millionaire" dramatizes episodes from the life of the philanthropist who was famous for eccentricities that ruffled the composure of the Philadelphia Social Register. He didn't believe in burying his money in vaults or in storing up life in bottles, but in living every moment to the full. He followed such enthusiasms as raising crocodiles (they're right in the show), sparring with famous prize-fighters in his living room and with his sons and daughter as well, destroying a fine wine-cellar when converted suddenly to Temperance and trying to prevent his daughter from marrying a scion of the Duke tobacco dynasty.

The atmosphere of the Biddle town house is such that when a butler enters he asks, "You yelled, sir?" The antics are unorthodox and happy-go-lucky. Miles Dickson is starred as the disarmingly eccentric millionaire. He has come to the Playhouse especially for this performance. The cast will also include Mae Munroe as his fun-loving daughter and occasional sparring partner, Eileen Letchworth as the affectionate Mrs. Biddle, Wayne Maxwell, who returns for the fifth time this season as the timid Duke family scion and Lillian Prince as his imperious mother who boasts that she built Duke University with her own hands. The scenery representing the fashionable Biddle town house at 2104 Walnut Street in Philadelphia has been designed by Jack Blackman.

Sundown Basset Hound Gains Top Recognition for Area

Hollerhound Forever Amble, a Basset hound bred and owned by Cliff Warren of the Patent Operations Department at Kingston IBM, is sporting a magnificent rosette acquired on Wednesday, Aug. 12, at the Orange County Fair.

Although only 10 months old on Aug. 4, "Hereford," as he is known to his many friends, was chosen by the show committee to represent the Basset hound breed in the "Parade of Dogs" held in the Middletown stadium before an interested crowd of fair exhibitors and visitors. Warren and his wife operate the Headacres Kennels of the Yeagerville Road at Sundown.

Sponsored jointly by the Orange County Agricultural Society, the Wallkill Kennel Club and the Tri-State Dog Obedience Club of Middletown, the "Parade of Dogs" was made up of top show specimens of 67 different A.K.C. recognized pure bred dog breeds, including many rare breeds never before seen in the flesh by the non-dog fanciers in the audience.

In addition to being the only Basset hound represented, "Hereford" was the only Roundout Valley dog invited to participate, and so carried the honors for the entire southern Ulster County-Catskill region. Sired by the great Best-In-Show winning "Champion" Siefenjagenheim Lazybones," he will carry with him in his future show ring appearances, his owners' great hopes and expectations for not only their own "Hollerhounds," but other area-bred dogs at last receiving their proper recognition among the nation's dog fanciers.

Schenectady Wins LL Title

Schenectady, the club which knocked Kingston Nationals out of Little League tournament play, is the New York State champion for 1959. The upstart defeated Elmont, L. I., 4-1, Saturday before 1,100 sun baked fans at Spratt Park, Poughkeepsie, to advance to the Regional tournament, starting Thursday in Staten Island.

The champs had beaten New Rochelle, 8-1, in the semi-finals of the state tourney before coming back to beat the Long Island club. They did it with some solid hitting and good chucking. Bill Neidel pitched the championship contest. He was relieved with one out and two on in the sixth frame by Lefty Mike McGarry. He fanned losing hurler Jim Smith and then got cleanup hitter Tom Reilly on a soft hoist to the second baseman.

Scoring by innings:

Set for Meeting At Poughkeepsie Wednesday Night

Socking 14 base hits, the Kingston Braves rocked the Braves, 14-1, in Beacon Sunday to keep its New York-New Jersey Baseball League pennant hopes alive. The locals broke open the game early with a five run burst in the first frame.

Kingston will journey to Poughkeepsie Wednesday night for a big meeting with the Hoosier-Bowlers. The Braves need a win to tie for first in the circuit. A loss would give Poughkeepsie the title.

Bob Maines, the hard throwing left-hander, hurled the win at Beacon. He went six strong innings before turning over the mound duties to Fred Vogel. Bob allowed an unearned run while giving up six hits and striking out four batters. Starter Matt Theiss was the loser for Beacon. He was followed to the hill by Don and Ralph Pomarico.

Tom Cosagrande was the hitting star. The readhead had a triple and three singles in five trips to the plate. Manager Norb Fahey cracked three hits, including a double and second baseman Ron Krause had a pair of singles. Of the 14 hits stroked by the locals, 11 of them were singles.

The five runs in the first frame came as the result of two walks, a single, fielders choice, another single and Fahey's double.

Maines had only one trouble-some inning. In the fourth, the Beaconites had three base hits and Kingston made two errors, but only one run scored as two men were cut down on the base paths.

3-Year-Old Pace Laurels Due Winner of Messenger Stake

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The honor of being named the best 3-year-old pacer of 1959 may very well go to the winner of the $12,494 Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night.

The Messenger is the second leg of harness racing's pacing triple crown and has attracted a field of 10 crack sophomore side-wheelers, including Adios Butler, winner of the Cane Pace at Yonkers Raceway, the first leg in the triple crown. The Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 24 is the third leg.

The Friday race headlines what promises to be another exciting week in the sulky sport with driver Clint Hodgins again in the spotlight.

Hodgins, who has won or been close up in virtually all of the big harness races this year, is slated to handle the reins on Adios Butler in the Messenger. On Saturday, he is scheduled to drive Bye Bye Byrd, the 4-year-old pacer well on his way to becoming horse of the year in the harness world, at Monticello Raceway in

Randall Draws Stewart As 1st Round Opponent

Defending champion, Leon

Randall, who has already wrapped up three major golf titles this season, opens defense of his Wiltwyck Country Club crown by playing Dick Stewart, Wiltwyck president, in a first round match on Saturday.

The Lucas avenue club has established a two-weekend format for the championship flight this year, with the first and second rounds to be played on Saturday and Sunday (Aug. 22-23), the semi-finals on Saturday Aug. 29, and the 36-hole finals on Sunday, Aug. 30.

The Blond Bomber automatically qualified as defending champion, while Stewart, who has been playing steady golf of late, turned in rounds of 81 and 82 in the 36-hole qualifying test.

Harvey Bostic was low qualifier with a 2-over-par 146 fashioned on rounds of 70 and 76. He therefore heads up the lower half of the draw, thus paving the way for a possible repeat Bostic-Randall finals.

Pairings Listed

The pairings in the championship division, with the qualifying scores, follow:

Leon Randall vs. Dick Stewart (163)

David Eyles (155) vs. Charles Giffney (170)

Ronnie Marks (149) vs. Brian Smith (166)

C. J. Turck (157) vs. Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr. (171)

Harvey Bostic (146) vs. Bill Marks (164)

Bill Kaufman (156) vs. John Burch (170)

Bud Leininger (154) vs. Charles Bostic (169)

Bob Daley (161) vs. George Cosenza (179)

Pairings and dates for the handicap divisions will be announced in the near future. All members who desire to play in these flights and who have not yet signed up are to do so by Wednesday of this week, the deadline for declaring intention to participate.

Italian Horse Wins

Hodgins, who won a $25,000 race at Roosevelt Friday with Circo, flew to Buffalo Saturday and drove Bye Bye Byrd to victory in the second leg of the HTA fall series at Batavia Downs.

Italy's fourth in Roosevelt's $30,000 International, surprised a Saturday night crowd of 14,497 by winning the $25,000 summer festival free-for-all trot at Roosevelt. He finished fast in the stretch to beat Silver Song by half a length in the mile and one-quarter race and paid $63.10.

Trader Horn, the favorite, finished sixth.

Other featured races Saturday: At Saratoga, Butch Harmony led all the way in winning the $5,000 Schenectady Pace for driver Clyde Snook. The winner paid $3. Sea Pirate captured the feature $2,000 Invitational Pace at Vermon Downs and returned $8.70.

Garland Garmey was in the sulky. Norman Stephens drive Frisky Andrews to victory in the Fort Delaware Pace at Monticello. The winner returned $14.20.

Suffern Star Teams With Gordon Krajna For Doubles Crown

Top seeded Steve Bank won everything but the girls' singles in the Hudson River Valley tennis tournament at the beautiful New Paltz State Teachers College courts.

The Suffern star defeated Dick Strain of the Poughkeepsie Tennis Club, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1, 6-1, to capture the singles title yesterday before a huge crowd.

Bank then teamed with young Gordon Krajna, New Paltz College star, to beat Kingston's team of Marty Kaye and Ed Mills, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, in an exciting doubles championship match. Earlier in the day, Bank and Krajna had defeated Dave Bonner and Dr. Sam Simon of Poughkeepsie to vault into the finals of the double tourney.

Against Strain, Bank faltered only in the second set. He had many double faults on his hard serve while Strain played a steady game at the net. However, in the third and fourth sets, Bank forced Strain into countless errors and won handily. Strain, the dark horse of the tourney, was unused when play began.

On Saturday, Strain won a 6-1, 6-4 verdict over Mills while Bank vaulted into the title match with a 6-1, 6-4 decision over Kaye.

Yesterday, Bank was simply amazing. He played two doubles matches and a singles match in almost unbearable heat and was at his top form all the way.

Betty Deores of Poughkeepsie gained the women's title with straight set wins, 6-1, 6-4, over Carol Blackwell of Kingston. The champion had more experience and a wider variety of shots and she outpointed the local player with ease.

Botsford Wins Over Randall

Bob Botsford of Poughkeepsie defeated Leon Randall of Wiltwyck Country Club on the 20th hole in the finals of the 28th annual Stamford Invitational Sunday.

The Poughkeepsie ace closed out the match with a birdie on the par-five 20th hole. Botsford's second shot rolled across the green, but he clipped back within 2 feet for his birdie.

Randall, meanwhile, slammed his second shot into an unplayable lie near the fence which borders the hole. The Wiltwyck champion had run down a 22 foot birdie put on the 17th hole to square the match. Trapped on the 18th, Randall blasted from 30 feet to within six inches for a par 4 to halve the hole and send the match into extra holes.

Drives 275-Yard Hole

Botsford missed an eagle on the par-4, 275-yard 13th hole where his tremendous tee shot landed four feet from the cup. He missed his shot at the eagle and settled for a birdie.

Randall gained the finals by defeating the highly regarded Art Silverstone of Long Island, 1 up in the semi-finals. Botsford turned back Jim Kayser, Florida State Amateur champion, 3 and 2.

Banks Heads for Repeat MVP Geiger Makes Yawkey Prophet

Raps 36th Homer
Ups His RBIs to
112 for Season

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ernie Banks, Chicago's slugging shortstop, may become the first player in National League history to be voted the circuit's most valuable player in two years in succession.

Two National Leaguers — Stan Musial and Roy Campanella — won the coveted honor three times and two others—Rogers Hornsby and Carl Hubbell—won it twice but nobody has done it twice in succession.

Banks strengthened his claim Sunday, bashing a two-run homer —his 36th of the season—as the Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-4 for their third victory in the four-game series. Ernie also was on base when Lee Walls smashed a three-run homer off loser Johnny Antonelli to break a 2-2 tie.

Ernie, batting .312, leads both leagues with 112 runs batted in and is tied for the lead with Washington's Harmon Killebrew in home runs. Last year he led both leagues with 47 home runs and 129 runs batted in.

Giants Hold Lead
Despite the defeat, the Giants retained their 2½ game lead over Los Angeles when St. Louis defeated the Dodgers 5-3. Milwaukee's third place Braves split with Pittsburgh, winning the second game of a doubleheader 5-2 after the Pirates had won the opener 2-1. Philadelphia swept a twin bill from Cincinnati 8-5 and 6-0.

Banks was an unexpected starter. He had been hit on the back by a pitch Saturday and doctors said it would be several days before Ernie would be able to play.

Bob Anderson was the winner but he needed help in the eighth inning from Don Elston, who struck out pinch hitter Felipe Alou with two runners on base. Willie Mays drove in two Giant runs with his 21st homer.

Larry Jackson pitched a 10-hitter as the Cards evened the four-game series with Los Angeles. Bill White and rookie Gene Oliver drove in all St. Louis' runs. White knocked in two with a single and his 11th homer. Oliver had a two-run single and a sacrifice fly. Roger Craig was the loser. Four were ejected in the argument-filled game, manager Solly Hemus, Don Blasingame and Ken Boyer of the Cards and Duke Snider of the Dodgers.

Friend Wins 100th

Bob Friend, after seven failures, finally won his 100th game, fifth of the season. The Pirates' 22-game winner of 1958 was tagged for 11 hits in the opener but his mates helped him with three double plays and relief pitcher Bob Porterfield came to his rescue in the ninth when the Braves got their lone run. Dick Stuart drove in both Pittsburgh runs off Juan Pizarro with a homer. Warren Spahn won the second for the Braves, doling out eight hits for his 16th triumph. Rookie Lee Mays and Frank Torre, with two hits and two runs each, paced the Braves' nine-hit attack.

Shortstop Joe Koppe hit a three-run homer to feature a six-run sixth inning attack in the first game and Don Cardwell pitched a six-hit shutout in the second game to highlight the Phils' double victory over Cincinnati. Wally Post's 15th homer, with a man on base, in the first inning, off loser Jay Hook, was all Cardwell needed.

Fort Orange Repeats State Legion Victory

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Fort Orange Post 30 of Albany, state American Legion Junior baseball champions for the second straight year, move onto the region two playoffs Saturday.

The region tournament, to be played at Bristol, Conn., will feature the champions of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Fort Orange won the New York title Saturday by overwhelming 20th Veterans Memorial Post of Rochester 10-3.

Sunday's Stars

Batting — Dick Stuart, Pirates, Stuart walloped a home run with a man on base to give Pittsburgh a 2-1 first game victory over Milwaukee. The Braves won the second game of the doubleheader 5-2.

Pitching — Ike Delock, Red Sox, Delock relieved starter Jerry Casale in the second inning and held New York to four hits the rest of the way in Boston's 6-5 victory in the first game. The Yankees won the second game 4-2.

Is Evashevski Headed for Pitt?

PITTSBURGH — (NEA)—Forest Evashevski is reported to have visited the Pittsburgh campus by invitation.

Those close to the situation say it is hardly likely that Evashevski was a guest of the Panther coaches considering that Iowa's famous head man or his agents landed Matt Szykowny and Dick Turici, local Pittsburgh high school players, coveted highly by Pitt.

By the process of elimination, observers figure that Evashevski might have been invited to Pitt by Chancellor Edward Litchfield's athletic director search committee.

That would tend to belie talk that Litchfield's aim for Pittsburgh football is de-emphasis.

Wetlaufer New Eastern Champ

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—The Eastern Amateur golf tournament is Ward Lettlauffer's cup of tea.

The Walker Cup star from Buffalo, N. Y., finished strong Sunday with rounds of 69 and 71 to win the title for the second straight year. His total of 284, four over par for the Elizabeth Manor Country Club course, equaled the record for this tournament.

In second place, off in the distance with a 292 total, was Horace Ervin, the Carolinas' amateur champion. Ervin, of Kingston, N. C., finished with rounds of 73 and 72.

Warren Simmons of Canandaigua, N. Y., tied Wynne Spencer of Newport News for 12th place with 302 each. Simmons shot 79 and 74 on his final rounds.

Murdered Yankees

Geiger and Wertz played key roles in the Red Sox near-sweep of a four-game series with the New York Yankees. It wasn't their fault that the Yankees won the second game Sunday, 4-2, after the Red Sox had won the opener, 6-5.

Kansas City defeated Chicago 7-2 and narrowed the White Sox' first place lead over Cleveland to three games. The Indians lost an opportunity to pick up more ground when a violent rainstorm in Detroit postponed their game in the second inning after they had scored five runs in the first. Washington whipped Baltimore 6-1.

The Red Sox scored all their first game runs and made all their hits — six — in the second inning, inflicting the seventh loss upon Duke Mas. Wertz ignited the six-run rally with a single. Geiger drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single.

The pair, whose homers had highlighted Boston's winning nine-run rally against the Yankees Friday night, acquitted themselves nobly in Sunday's second game. Trailing 3-1 in the sixth, the Red Sox came within an eyelash of tying the score. Geiger opened with a single, his third hit. After Pete Runnels singled, Wertz drove Geiger home with a long single, sending Runnels to third. Jackie Jensen smashed a groundie toward left field but shortstop Cletis Boyer converted it into an inning-ending double play with a fine stop.

Mantle Hits Tape Job

Mickey Mantle provided the lusty hitting for New York. He drove in two runs with a home run, his 24th of the season, in the first inning and scored in the eighth after walloping a double off the bleacher wall, 461 feet away.

Home runs by Bob Cerv, Preston Ward and Russ Snyder helped veteran Ned Garver gain his ninth victory as Kansas City made it two in a row over the White Sox. Dick Donovan, making his first start for Chicago since he suffered a shoulder injury July 21, was the loser.

Three Baltimore errors presented Washington with all but one of its six runs. Loser Jerry Walker gave up nine hits including a triple and single by catcher Clint Courtney, who drove in two runs. Pete Ramos allowed nine hits for his 11th victory. The Senators played without home run leader Harmon Killebrew who hurt his right wrist crashing into a wall Saturday night.

Peterson Wins Washburn Race

Pete Peterson, driving star from Slingerlands, N. Y., captured the 250 lap Washburn Memorial Classic at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday. He grabbed the lead in the 159th lap from Bill Boo of Pawling and held it the rest of the way.

Peterson drove a Chrysler powered car owned by Bob and Charley Zimmerman of Albany. Following him across the finish line were Carl Fink of Albany, Jim Markle of Stone Ridge, Hoppy Jensen of Bristol, Conn., Stan Disbrow of Poughkeepsie, Arnie Horton of Troy, Richie Dutcher of Pawling, Bud Williams of Hudson and Al Ostrander of Willow.

Bud Glass of Hurley copped a rough and tumble consolation event for non-qualifiers as he rode literally over third place John VanLeuvan for the position. Dick Hansen of Red Hook was second.

Sid Niccimp of Stony Hollow copped the sedan feature followed by Vernon Dixon and Pete Ditmar.

Monticello Raceway Sets Betting Record

Monticello Raceway finally cracked the $400,000 bet mark Saturday as fans poured $423,335 into the mutual machines.

Frisky Andrew, racing a half mile on the outside, captured the featured Fort Delaware Pace in 2:05.1, staving off a late bid by Coast Dale. A near record throng of 10,171 cheered him on, with the winner paying $14.20.

Two drivers escaped serious injury in the fifth. Pat Iovine was sent flying to the track and William Popfinger unseated when their carts tangled. The horses, Arra and Sunation, both pacers, also went down but appeared unhurt.

The crowd was treated to an $81.50 payoff in the daily double when Spencer Mite (3) and Clarence Win (4) took the first two races.

Hopman Thinks Aussie Squad Has Chance to Recapture Cup

By WILL GRIMSLEY
BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — "We can win back the Davis Cup if our boys hold their present form," said Australia's Harry Hopman.

"I think it's 50-50," said Perry Jones of Los Angeles. "We are lucky. In Alex Olmedo, we have the best amateur player in the world."

These were the ringing statements of rival captains today as lines were drawn for the 16th straight Davis Cup challenge round meeting between Australia and the United States at Forest Hills Aug. 28-30.

The Aussies, who have won the cup eight times to America's seven since the two-nation monopoly took root in 1938, ended the long, hard climb to the challenge round Sunday by routing India 4-1.

Fraser in Key Win

Neale Fraser, playing at his peak, shattered India's dreams of an upset by outclassing the sensational Ramanathan Krishnan in the first of two last day singles matches 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. Rod Laver, 21-year-old Queenslander, beat Premjit Lall, 18-year-old Calcutta student, 6-2, 10-8, 6-4.

Hopman said he probably would use his lefthanders, Fraser and Laver in singles and his Wimbledon champions Fraser and Roy Emerson, in doubles.

Earlier, Hopman told a Boston press conference that he thought America was lucky in the Davis Cup matches a year ago and that he thought he had three players—Fraser, Laver and Emerson—who could beat Olmedo.

Jones, 71-year-old California executive, laughed off this statement.

"You know Harry—he's just talking to raise the confidence of his team," Jones said. "Nobody is going to beat Olmedo. He is the established, bona fide amateur champion of the world. He has proved it by coming through in big matches and he will prove it in the Davis Cup."

Souchak Sets Mark With 268

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Now that Mike Souchak has decided to become one of the idle rich for a few months, perhaps other golfers will be able to register a little profit here and there.

Big Mike won the $25,000 Motor City Open Golf Tournament Sunday without a struggle. He went into the final round protecting a seven stroke lead, shot a 69 and won by nine.

The payoff was $3,500. That makes it $14,000 over the last five weeks and $16,000 for the year, including some unofficial money like the $10,000 he won at the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas.

"It all spends, though," said the easy-going former end and place-kicker from Duke University. "But now I'm going home to rest. I deserve a little time off, I think."

Souchak, 32, set one record and tied another as he mastered Meadowbrook's 6,616-yard layout, which has a par of 35-36-71. Mike's second round 62 tied the course record for 18 holes and his winning total of 268 was five better than Meadowbrook's previous 72-hole total.

Doug Ford finished strong with rounds of 67 and 70 to gain a second place tie with U.S. Open titlist Bill Casper Jr., who had a final day 69. Each won $2,600.

Art Wall Jr., the Masters Champion and winner of three other events, increased his winnings to $18,499, best on the circuit, fashioning a 72 for a three-way deadlock for fourth place with Arnold Palmer and Dutch Harrison.

SAN REMO, Italy — Gracieux Lamperti, 123½, France, defeated Sergio Caprari, 125, Italy, 15, for European featherweight title.

MEXICO CITY—Filberto Nava, 123½, Mexico, defeated Victor Manuel Quijano, 123½, Mexico, 12 for Mexican featherweight title.

Title Sparks 49ers to Victory In Grid Game

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Y. A. Tittle, San Francisco's balding quarterback with a penchant for last-second heroics, is a leading exponent of the blitzkrieg attack in the National Football League.

Four exhibition games were played during the weekend. Each was a heart-palpitator. Each was a toss-up. Each was won in the last period with electrifying plays.

Tittle's was the most prominent example of the blitzkrieg and the most dramatic.

The 49ers trailed Washington 24-20 Sunday. The stadium clock showed 59 seconds remaining. Tittle began to formulate moves. The 13-year pro veteran picked rookie Paul Lowe of Oregon State for the yeoman's share of the running duties. The 178-pounder responded with a key 40-yard scamper.

Nine seconds remained four plays later. Tittle had his forces massed on the Redskins 16. He faded back, picked out end Clyde Conner and fired a pass for the touchdown that gave the 49ers a 27-24 victory in their debut under new Coach Red Hickey.

It was the same story Saturday Zeke Bratkowski's toss to Rick Casares with 41 seconds remaining gave the Chicago Bears a 19-16 victory over Green Bay. John Crow went 71 yards for a TD in the final three minutes as Chicago's Cardinals edged Detroit 21-19. A 43-yard jaunt by Walt Kowalczyk midway of the final period provided the winning margin as Philadelphia defeated New York 21-17.

YMCA All Stars Top Small Fry Champions

The YMCA All Stars beat the Biscuits, Small Fry League champions, 8-5, in six innings in heat and humidity at the Athletic Field Saturday.

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of five innings, when the Stars rallied for seven runs. The Biscuits then scored four runs in their last turn at bat.

Next week, the boys will challenge their dads to the fourth annual Father and Son ball game. The 1958 game ended in a tie.

Three Double Plays Help Springfield

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whatever became of the old game-saving double plays? The Springfield Giants pulled three of them off Sunday, killing several Williamsport opportunities, in a 5-3 victory over the Grays.

The win moved second-place Springfield again to within a game and a half of the Eastern League-leading Grays. Binghamton defeated Albany 10-2 in the opener of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game in the league.

U. S. Women Win Wightman Cup From Great Britain

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
SEWICKLEY, Pa. (AP) — The Wightman Cup is back in its usual nesting place in the U.S. today. And if the British hope to win it again, they're going to have to find a teammate for Christine Truman.

The British won last year in a big upset. It marked the first time they triumphed since 1930 and they figured they should keep it, especially since the Americans were without the services of Althea Gibson.

But the American lassies won by taking four of seven weekend matches.

The trouble with the British girls is that they can't hit. They all are strictly baseline players with the exception of the 6-foot, 18-year-old Miss Truman. She's a comer and will cause a lot of trouble in the future. But she needs help.

Going into the final four matches, the U.S. held a 2-1 margin. Darlene Hard, a Pomona College pre-medical student, turned back Angela Mortimer, 6-3, 6-8, 6-4 in the first singles to make it 3-1.

Then Mrs. Beverly Fleitz wrapped it up with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Miss Truman.

"No doubt about it," said Mrs. Fleitz. "I was playing real well. Christine is a good player and is a comer."

Mrs. Fleitz was right on both counts. She turned out to be the power of the American team, winning both her singles.

"I'm disappointed, of course," Miss Truman said. "But I'll be around for a long time, I hope, and maybe we'll win it next year."

WHEN CONSIDERING A NEW ROOF OR SIDING JOB

Ask Yourself These Questions

If you are approached by an itinerant applicator offering a "bargain" on a new roof for your home, or siding job, ask yourself these important questions:

- DO I KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THE SALESMAN OR HIS COMPANY?
- HAVE I ASKED THE SALESMAN OR HIS COMPANY FOR REFERENCES?
- HAVE I REASON TO BELIEVE THAT THE COMPANY WILL BE IN EXISTENCE AND FINANCIALLY ABLE TO FULFILL ITS GUARANTEES FIVE OR TEN YEARS FROM NOW?
- HAVE I OBTAINED A PRICE ON THIS JOB ON EXACTLY the same specifications from my local dealer?
- DOES THE COMPANY PROVIDE LIABILITY INSURANCE TO PROTECT ME in case of accident?
- DO I KNOW THE BRAND GRADE OR QUALITY OF MATERIAL I am getting?
- IN THE EVENT I PAY FOR THE JOB ON AN INSTALLMENT BASIS, do I know what finance company will have my note?

IF THE ANSWER TO ANY OF THESE QUESTIONS IS "NO" — BE CAREFUL!

Watch out for the misrepresentation and watch out for "tricky" contracts. Play SAFE. Before you purchase material or enter into a contract with an unknown firm, consult SMITH PARISH who are RELIABLE AND RESPONSIBLE!

Too Risky: Advisers

Diane Felt Like Going Around Manhattan Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan is an island, and no one knows it better than Diane Struble.

The 26-year-old blonde swam around it Saturday. She did the 30 mile distance in 11 hours and 27 minutes, using the breast stroke most of the way.

A crowd of about 1,000 cheered as she came ashore at the Battery on the lower tip of Manhattan. She didn't even out of breath, and told reporters "I feel I could go around again, but they won't let me."

Her advisers felt that swimming at night in shipping lanes was too risky.

Miss Struble, who comes from Lake George, is the mother of three. She is separated from her husband, uses her maiden name and won't give her married name.

Her trip took her up the East River to Hell Gate, through the Harlem River between Manhattan and The Bronx, then down the Hudson, and around to the battery again.

Her trainers occasionally fed her from the boat which kept close behind her.

Miss Struble isn't the first woman to make the trip. Mrs. Charlotte Moore Schoonmiller, now 65, of Ocean Springs, Miss., made the swim in 1926.

Church More Important

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A man often accused of fomenting violence in Little Rock's 1957 integration crisis has joined a church and says the racial issue is now unimportant.

James T. Karam, 51, a clothier, said he joined the Baptist church.

"To know Christ is so much more important than segregation or integration," Karam said of his new way of life.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
A NEW EISENHOWER

Since public opinion pried Sherman Adams off the President's back, we have a new Chief Executive. It looks now that his last two years will be his best.

Too bad it didn't happen sooner.

After the overwhelming defeat of GOP candidates last year, it is a near miracle that in a few short months, Mr. Eisenhower has taken command the way he has.

He finally hit on a simple issue that concerns everybody—a dollar that everybody can once more have confidence in.

It is high time. The Federal Government's debt is now higher than it has ever been in peace or war. It is 19 billion $'s higher than when the President took office.

It must be a matter of deep chagrin to Mr. Eisenhower that with Sherman Adams advising him, he has himself urged spending billions more (outside of National Defense) on new "welfare" programs, and on extending old ones. It is these programs that have sent the debt and budget to all-time highs—spending for defense.

To keep the record straight: Roosevelt's biggest peacetime budget was in 1940, Outgo, 9 billions, Deficit, 3.9 billions.

Truman's biggest peacetime year was 1950, Outgo, 39 billions, Deficit, 3 billions.

Eisenhower's biggest peacetime budget is 1959, Outgo, 81 billions, Deficit, 12.6 billions.

The President is now actually talking of paying off some of the debt this fiscal year!

He has finally raised the flag of fiscal integrity.

Kerhonkson Child Killed, 5 Others Hurt on Sunday

An 11-month-old Kerhonkson child was killed and five persons were injured in a head-on collision which occurred at 11:45 p. m. Sunday on Route 22 about three miles south of Millerton in Dutchess County.

State Police Corporal Neil Flynn and Trooper Girard Mahoney of Dover Plains and Millerton identified the victim as Carol Ann Brady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brady Jr. of Kerhonkson. She was pronounced dead at Sharon, Conn. Hospital of internal injuries.

Father Is Critical

Troopers said the cars were operated by John Brady Sr., 51, of Wawarsing, and William Francis Brown, 26, of Amenia, who was driving a 1946 automobile owned by Ivan Schlyuk of Ghent in Columbia County.

The Wawarsing man suffered a fracture of the humerus, a compound fracture of the right femur and chest and rib injuries. His condition was described as critical.

Other injured, according to State Police were, the dead child's father, John Brady Jr., 26, of Kerhonkson, who suffered a ruptured spleen, internal injuries and fractured ribs. His condition was described as critical.

Mrs. Theresa Brady, 49, wife of the operator of one of the vehicles, who suffered lacerations and possible rib fractures and Mrs. Barbara Brady, 31, mother of the dead child, who suffered injuries of the right side.

Both Cars Demolished

State Police said Brady was driving his 1957 sedan south on Route 22 and Brown was traveling in the opposite direction when the vehicles crashed head-on. Both automobiles were demolished.

Troopers reported all injured were rushed to the Sharon Hospital in ambulances from the Amenia and Millerton Fire departments.

CAB Is Probing Wreckage of 707

CALVERTON, N. Y. (AP) — A 32-man investigating team from the Civil Aeronautics Board is investigating the wreckage of a four-jet Boeing 707 here.

The American Airlines plane crashed in a Long Island potato field Saturday, killing all five crewmen aboard.

Several witnesses said two of the plane's engines began smoking as it prepared to land after a training flight. The transport then rolled over and nosed into the ground. The ship exploded and caught fire, and it took firemen two hours to douse the flaming wreckage.

It was the first fatal crash with the Boeing 707, although the military version, a tanker, has been involved in crashes.

The Boeing 707 has been involved in several mechanical failures recently, requiring emergency landings.

Bronx Man Picked Up as AF Deserter
Accused of being a deserter from the U. S. Armed forces, George Rudolph Dunn, 23, of 457 East 186th Street, Bronx, was taken into custody Saturday by State police Corporal Edward Shannon and Troopers Richard Ryan and Joseph Ventriglia and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Dunn was taken to the Ulster County jail pending further action.

Troopers said Dunn was arrested at a High Woods plant where he was employed.
